Washington—(AP)—Concepted action by all the powers of the world has brought about simultaneous recognition of the new provisional governments in Argentina, Bolivia and Peru.

In keeping with tradition, the European governments sounded out Washington before extending recognition. It was found that the United States wished to recognize the new administrations in Argentina, Bolivia and Peru unless Europe made some objection that merited delay.

The primary consideration in the past has been whether a government actually achieved de facto control or military domination. This rule was broken during the Wilson administration, with the idea that a military overthrow of a government and disregard of the constitution should be discouraged. The United States under the Roosevelt administration took the view that the character of the government set up had more to do with the subject than whether it had military control and also whether its purposes were friendly to the United States. The setting up of a provisional government in Panama was followed in 72 hours by formal recognition by the United States.

DIFFICULT QUESTION

Thus the Washington government has struggled with the question of recognition and has been on both sides of the controversy as to when recognition should actually be extended.

The policy just announced by Secretary Stimson is significant. It may not be applied in all cases because circumstances may differ but the reason he gives for recognition is, first, that the provisional governments in Argentina, Bolivia and Peru are "de facto in control of their respective countries and that there is no active resistance to their rule."

The second reason is that each of the government has announced its intention "to fulfill its respective

STEEL MOTORSHIP IS SUNK AT SHEBOYGAN

Sheboygan—(AP)—Making port here with her 1,700 tons of canned goods from Camden, N. J., the Buckeye State, all-steel motorship settled to the bottom. Parts of the ship stuck above the water.

The ships will be pumped out and taken to Manitowoc for temporary repairs. Bound for Chicago, the Buckeye State went up the east coast from Camden, through the Great Lakes to within 200 miles of her destination, and sprung a leak when she struck a rock off Centerville in Manitowoc-co.

SHOOT AT DRIVER WHO WOULDN'T LET HIM PASS

Oconomowoc—(AP)—Angered because another driver failed to get far enough on the right side of the road to let him pass, Alvin Doebler, Milwaukee, fired several shots, one of which entered the other car. It was revealed at his arraignment yesterday here on charges of assault with intent to kill. He was arrested Wednesday night after the other motorist, Leo C. Knapp, Watertown, reported the shooting to police. Doebler's case was continued a week.

SIX TO FACE FEDERAL GRAND JURY DESPITE DISMISSAL OF CASE

Milwaukee—(AP)—The cases of six liquor law defendants, which were dismissed yesterday on a technicality by Commissioner Wis-sominer at Green Bay, will be presented to the federal grand jury despite the dismissals, Levi Bancroft, district attorney, said today.

The commissioner dismissed the charges when no one appeared from Mr. Bancroft's office to prosecute them at their preliminary hearings.

Cuban Stand May Shelve U. S. World Court Action

Refusal of Island Republic to O. K. Protocol May Be Big Stumbling Block

Washington—(AP)—The unexpected opposition of Cuba to the proposal for revision of the world court statute, if it persists, may be followed here by a postponement of senate consideration of the court issue for another year.

President Hoover deferred sending the revised protocol providing for American adherence to the court to the last session of the senate on the ground that he would wait until all the other nations had first given their approval to it.

Although a determined band of Republicans in the senate are bi-terly opposed to American adherence to the court, it was believed at the capitol that Mr. Hoover intended to submit the issue to the senate at its short session beginning next December. Should Cuba refuse meanwhile to agree to the changed statute, the term of court sessions, another delay in senate consideration is believed likely to occur.

The question of American adherence to the world court is an old one. The senate once approved it during the administration of President Coolidge but the reservations voted by the senate were never accepted by all the other nations.

After the question of American participation in the court then seemed ended, President Coolidge sent Elihu Root abroad and he, with a committee of international law experts, revised the world court statutes in order to meet America's reservations.

Since the senate voted adherence, almost four years ago, the opponents claim to have gained increased strength.

Such figures in the senate as Senator Watson of Indiana, the Repub-

FLAMBEAU CO. CLAIM DENIED IN DECISION

No Payment to Be Made for Potential Energy When Permits Expire

Madison—(AP)—The energy that resides in a navigable stream is not a property right appurtenant to the riparian lands but belongs to the state, the state railroad commission ruled today.

The ruling was called the most important made in the history of utility questions since the United States Supreme court upheld the Wisconsin Water Power law in 1927. By its stand, the commission put the state in position to save hundreds of thousands of dollars in the exercise of the recapture provision of the water power law.

A radical departure in the theory of water power rights, the decision came in the application of the Flambeau Paper company. The company operated a dam across north fork of the Flambeau river, near Park Falls in Price-co.

The dam will develop power for the Flambeau Paper company. The company valued the riparian land at $87-748 and the water energy at approximately $34,100.

PRINCE LOUIS WEDS ELDERLY PRINCESS

Nuptials of Notorious Spanish Royal Scion Take Place in London.

London—(AP)—Princess Marie
Charlotte Constance de Broglie, aged 73, was married to Prince Louis Ferdinand D'Orleans, Bourbon infante of Spain and cousin of King Alfonso, in the London register office today.

The bride, who is the widow of Prince Amadeus de Broglie, recently was victorious in French courts when her relatives sought to prevent her marriage on the grounds of the disparity in the ages of the two. He is 42 years old and son of the Infanta Eulalia of Spain.

At that time the princess declared in court, regarding the suit, "It is a monstrous insult. I am not insane simply because I am in love. I am not a silly, sentimental girl. I know my own heart. I want a little happiness before I die."

The bridegroom, once reported engaged to Mrs. Mabelle Gilman Corey, one-time Broadway beauty, was reported to have broken with her early this year, at which time Mrs. Corey left her chateau near Versailles and took an apartment in Paris.

The lawsuit of relatives of the princess put a blight upon her romance with Prince Louis. The action went into court in July, at which time objections of the Duke de Brisac, her nephew, were given hearing. The duke complained to the French court that his aunt had squandered huge sums. He asked appointment of a court council to administer her property. During the course of the trial mental and physical examinations revealed that the princess was quite capable of attending to her own affairs and the action of the relatives was dismissed.

HIRE ANOTHER COP TO HELP CURB BURGLARS

Amery, Wis.—(AP)—Amery today had another night patrolman, in an effort to stop a series of burglaries.
At a meeting called by the mayor after the robbery of the Amery Mer-candise company Tuesday night, business men of the city voted to hire an assistant to the regular night watch.

2 Frenchmen Cheered At Milwaukee

Coste and Bellonte Land for Hour's Reception at State Metropolis

Milwaukee—(AP)—Captain Dleu-donne Coste and Lieutenant Maurice Bellonte, who flew from France to New York, made a perfect landing with their airplane, the Question Mark, at 11:55 a. m. (Central standard) here today, for a one-hour reception in Milwaukee.

Eighty police officers and 50 deputy sheriffs supervised the crowd.
As the fliers climbed down from their open cockpit ship a band played the Marseillaise.

Mayor Hoar's address was brief.
William E. McCarty, chairman of the county board, William Elfeldt, president of the association of commerce, and Rudolph Hokanson, chairman of the association's air service committee, followed the mayor with similar short talks.

Stuart F. Auer, governor of the Wisconsin Aeronautical association, spoke of the World war record of the Frenchmen and thanked them
"for honoring us with your visit."

A telegram from Gov. Walter J.
Kohler expressed regret that he was unable to attend the ceremony. It was read to the fliers, before the crowd.

They were wildly applauded. The crowd whistled and cheered at length as Coste was introduced and as he finished a brief speech in French.
The demonstration was repeated when Bellonte spoke in English, he said only:

"We are very delighted to be here in our city of Milwaukee. I thank you."

The fliers later were escorted to an open car which toured the border of the field so all might see the fliers. A cheer followed them.

WRESTLER SLAIN AT SOFT DRINK PARLOR

Chicago—(AP)—What appeared to be another gang slaying was thrust upon Chicago Friday with George Peters, a minor heavyweight wrestler, the victim. Another, Mike Lis-kalis, was probably fatally wounded in the same volley of shots.

Three men, who drove up to a soft drink parlor operated by Peters' brother in Argo, southwest of the city, rushed into the place with drawn guns and opened fire on the wrestler. They escaped.

The assault occurred while three Chicago courts were hearing gang cases, including that of the youngest and Capone, Matthew, 21, who was freed of charges of disorderly conduct and violation of the vehicle license laws
by Judge W. W. Dammann. Matthews is the brother of two public enemies, Scarface Alphonse and Ralph Capone.

TELLS ACTIVITIES OF EWALD GRAND JURORS

New York—(AP)—The activities of a county grand jury which failed to indict George F. Ewald or others on charges that his post as a city magistrate had been purchased, were recounted today by District Attorney Cram to the special grand jury summoned at Governor Roosevelt's behest to take over the inquiry.

The assault was superseded by special Prosecutor Hiram S. Todd in direction of the investigation, declined to make any comment when he emerged from the grand jury room.

Todd said he was "surprised" at the report, published in the New York World, that the special grand jury had 13 other magistrates and two former magistrates under investigation. He said he "did not know some of the men named as under investigation were magistrates."

DAHL NOT LIKELY TO OPPOSE LA FOLLETTE

Milwaukee—(AP)—Conservative Republicans, in the opinion of their leaders, have not seriously considered running an independent candidate against Philip F. La Follette.

Rumors that Harry Dahl, LaCrosse, who made a good run for lieutenant governor on the Kohler ticket, might be asked to come out against La Follette, proved news to Dahl himself and to George Gilkey, chairman of the state committee.

"I know no serious talk about running Mr. Dahl as an independent," Gilkey said over the telephone.

Dahl said he had talked to no one about any plan as running as an independent.

TWO BURNED TO DEATH AS PLANE FALLS

Machine Crashes and Bursts Into Flames Shortly After Noon Near Strom

Eau Claire—(AP)—In view of a schoolroom full of children, a cabin monoplane crashed today 12 miles south of Strom, Wis., burning to death Maurice Dland, 25, the pilot, and Harry Indelbo, 26. Both are from Strom, a village in Trempealeau-co.

The men, both employees of a garage, took off at noon to drop posters advertising a "Buy it in Strom," day. A heavy wind was blowing. Not far from the Strom Valley schoolhouse their Curtiss-Robin was seen to falter and fall. It burst into flames on hitting the ground.

The plane had been purchased by Boland only three weeks ago, and he had been using it for flights around Strom only a week. He had taken instructions at the Eau Claire Airways port and had a license as a limited commercial pilot, with 50 hours flying credit.

Boland was single. His parents live in Arcadia. Indelbo was married, but had no children. His parents live in Strom.

The accident occurred at 12:45
p. m.

BEARS FORCE STOCK PRICES DOWNWARD

But Rally Follows After Rumors of German Upheaval Are Discredited

New York—(AP)—Strenuous short selling stimulated by a widely circulated rumor concerning plans of the German radicals to overthrow the government sent stock prices skidding to the lowest levels of the month this forenoon, but the market made an irregular recovery early in the afternoon when direct cables from Berlin said that all was quiet in the Reich.

The report, originating in London where German bonds broke badly, spread rapidly throughout the financial district. Professional shorts, who had pushed quotations down a point or two in the early dealing, here-doubled their efforts. Rather heavy outside selling also appeared and prices of the prominent shares tum-bled 2 to 5 points. Sales to noon were larger than those for any full session of the week, with the exception of Monday, and the new high speed tickled fast a minute behind the trading on the stock exchange floor.

When the selling dried up some of the leaders recovered a point or so of their extreme losses, and the market lapped once more into dullness, although it continued to show some nervousness.

U. S. Steel, American Can, Johns-Manville, Vanadium, Bethlehem Steel, North American, National Discount, Sears Roebuck and scores of other issues lost 2 to 2 points before meeting resistance. Westinghouse Electric and American Water Works dropped 3 to 4, Western Union and Worthington Pump about 5 and Allied Chemical 8.

GRAIN FREIGHT RATES ATTACKED BY ROADS

Washington—(AP)—New rates on grain and grain products which the Interstate Commerce commission has ordered put into effect after October were vigorously attacked today in petitions appearing on the table in the federal government in Washington.

The Kuomintang News agency in New York last night quoted dispatches from Nanking indicating the imminent collapse of the Kuomintang government and the flight of Chiang Kai-shek to the central government in Nanking.

Dispatches also said that Chiang Kai-shek had issued orders to military troops to support the central government. At the same time, he had kept close to the central government which has not yet been restored.

The news agency also said that Yen Hsi-shan, once known as the "chief of the Kuomintang," was one of the leaders of the Kuomintang and had been ordered to Peiping to take over Peiping and Tientsin.

Manchurian Chief Acts To Restore Peace To China

Tientsin, China—(AP)—Indication that Chang Hsueh-liang, governor of Manchuria, is taking a hand in restoring peace to northern China where the Peiping military movement against the Nanking government has been going on for some time, was reported here today.

The Mukden government was stated to have passed a peace manifesto and to be moving troops toward Peiping with the intention of taking over the northern capital and the important city of Tientsin now being held by the northern militarists.

Peiping, or Manchurian, troops, this morning started toward Peiping by crossing the Lian river to northern China, south of the Great Wall.

It was understood that 40,000 Manchurian troops had been ordered to occupy the whole railway to Peiping.

Dies in Wreck

A. K. Ellis, Jr., 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Ellis, 265 W. Prospect-ave., was fatally injured about 6:45 Thursday evening when his car ran into the ditch at the intersection of Highways 151 and 73, about three miles south of Columbus, Wis. Ellis' father is vice president and general manager of the Wisconsin Michigan power company.

The young man died about 1:30 Friday morning in a hospital at Columbus without regaining consciousness. His skull was fractured in two places, his jaw was broken, both lungs were punctured and seven ribs were broken.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellis were at the bedside when their son died.

On his way to Madison where he was to resume his studies at the University of Wisconsin, Ellis was traveling south on Highway 151. While there were no witnesses to the accident, it is believed that he failed to see a head-on across construction work on Highway 151 in time to permit him to negotiate the left turn to Highway 73. His car, according to George Jacques, Columbus garage-man, evidently hit the ditch on the outside the curve, catapulted into the air and landed upside down.

Jacques, with Fred DeViney, also of Columbus, arrived at the scene a few minutes after the accident. Jacques said it was a "dunk when he got there and they there was a real

BRITONS ACT FOR NATION'S PROSPERITY

London—(AP)—An influential group of British industrialists moved today toward reestablishment of prosperity in the island empire.

The industrialists, headed by Sir William Morris, wealthy automobile manufacturer, were often known as the "Henry Ford of Great Britain" have called a meeting of industrial and financial figures for Sept. 25 to discuss the situation created by unemployment and financial depression.

It is Sir William's idea that at the meeting a "national council of industry" can be formed in an attempt "to bring about a new revolution in the prosperity of the country."

A letter of invitation to the meeting says that it "calls for no excuse."
The depth and persistence of Britain's financial depression demand immediate action. The British people today are tired of the waste and extravagance of the successive governments and the slavish adherence of the political parties to economic theories which have lost all relation to the facts of modern business life.

WOMAN SOUGHT IN HUNT FOR JURIST

Threatened to Start Suit Against New York Supreme Court Justice

New York—(AP)—Investigation into the disappearance of Supreme Court Justice Joseph F. Carter today centered in efforts to find the tall, blonde woman who threatened action against him the day before he dropped from sight.

Called before the county grand jury, Samuel Buchler, attorney, is understood to have repeated the story he previously told the New York World that a woman who said she was Lorraine Fay called at his office on Aug. 5 and asked him to start suit against the jurist.

The fact that she did not return to the lawyer's office the next day as she promised and the withdrawal by Carter of $5,500 from a bank was regarded by the police as significant.

Buchler told the police he understood the woman to say the woman was staying at a hotel in the Mallon west side and as a result all hotels in that section were being combed for her. The name she gave the attorney is believed false.

The grand jury, meanwhile, has adjourned until Monday to give investigators an opportunity to follow the new clues.

DANISH WOMAN STUDENT MILLIONAIRE FOR DAY

Berlin—(AP)—Miss Maren Barne-sen, a student of medicine from Copenhagen, Denmark, experienced being a millionaire for a day here.

She had won first prize in a competition sponsored by the Danish Club in "Politiken" which rewarded her to spend one day in Berlin with all the privileges, no matter how much paid by the state.

There was one condition, however,
Miss Barneesen was to spend the day doing anything which might be of value to her after her day of millions was expired.

She therefore found the task of spending money somewhat difficult.
A visit to Prof. Albert Einstein, an amplified spin, the most expensive restaurant, and the like were of little value. She had to "satisfy her curiosity."

Edison May Fly Sometime With Old-Fashioned Pilot

Newark, N. J.—(AP)—Thomas A.
Edison knows a lot about airplanes today, is eager to learn more, and may even fly in one sometime if he can find a pilot who'll promise to do no barrel-rolling or outside loops.
At Mr. Edison's insistence the inventor went with her to the Newark airport last night and talked a round hour with Lieut.
Richard Aldworth, director of the airport.

"What do you do about stalling?"
Mr. Edison asked.

"It is forbidden, because of the transport business," the lieutenant replied.

"If a plane should lose its engine in flight, could it go safely to the ground?"

"Yes, a plane now has quite a good stalling angle."

A mechanic worked a plane's controls to demonstrate the method.

18 Banks In Farm Belt States Looted Since Sept. 1

OVER $130,000 CARRIED OFF BY ROBBER BANDS

Automobiles, Planes Used in Area Once Frequented by Jesse James

Chicago — (P) — An epidemic of bank robberies is sweeping, like a September storm, across the American prairies.

Eighteen farm belt banks have been looted at the point of guns since Sept. 1. Sums totaling more than $130,000 have been taken. There were four bank holdups yesterday alone.

The robber bands have moved by motorcar and even airplane over the same territory as that "worked" by the James boys half a century ago.

From Missouri to the Canadian line they have drawn guns on bank cashiers and roared away with their loot.

Yesterday's bank robberies were at Wesley and Hardy, Iowa; Gifford, Mo., and Hay Springs, Neb.

The Hay Springs robbery gave authorities their first intimation that bank robbers may have resorted to airplanes. A plane landed in a field near the northwestern Nebraska village yesterday morning.

Shortly afterward it had disappeared. In the interim the First National bank had been robbed by five men of $14,000.

FOURTH IN A WEEK The robbery was the fourth in Nebraska within a week, with loot totaling $98,500. The greater part of the total loot was taken Wednesday, robbers holding up the Lincoln National bank and getting away with $75,000.

Mostly the robbers have had to content themselves with small sums. Except for the Lincoln, Neb., robbery, the loot has not exceeded $15,000, and mostly it has been greatly under that. The Gifford, Mo., bank robbers yesterday got only $800.

The state of Iowa, dotted with small towns, each with its bank or banks, has been the chief sufferer from the lawless forays. Five bank robberies have occurred in that state within a fortnight. Minnesota and Nebraska each have been visited four times, while single bank holdups have occurred in Missouri, Illinois and North Dakota. South Dakota banks at Hoven and Harrisburg were held up by six bandits, and an aftermath one is dead, three are in prison, one awaits trial and one remains a fugitive.

Iowa public opinion has been aroused to the point where the Des Moines Register and Tribune today offered a $500 reward for the "first person—vigilante, sheriff, deputy or bank employee—who shoots and kills a bandit in the act of robbing an Iowa bank."

4 CANDIDATES REPORT NO FURTHER EXPENSES

Four of the candidates for political offices in the primary election Tuesday reported no additional expenses in final campaign expense reports filed Friday with John E. Hantschel, county clerk. They were A. W. Laabe, Dr. H. E. Ellsworth, F. M. Charlesworth and Sydney M. Shannon.

A. G. Koch reported an additional expense of $15.80, making his total expense $104.48. John Koehler reported an addition $20.16 to make his total expense $106.74. Fred W. Giese spent $10 more to make his total expense $144.02.

All candidates must file final expense reports on or before Saturday.

FIND CHARRED BOBBY OF MURDERED GIRL

Minnesota Farmer Arrested but Denies Knowledge of Slaying

Roseau, Minn. — (P) — Charred parts of the body of Anna Wold, 25, who disappeared Aug. 2, were found late yesterday in a straw pile near Haug, an inland town 20 miles from here, county authorities revealed today.

They said the girl, an expectant mother, had been slain.

Carl Brandevold, 30, on whose farm the straw pile is located, is held. He denied any knowledge of the crime which is believed to have occurred shortly after the girl left her home near Haug a month ago, ostensibly to visit neighbors.

The girl's skull and one leg were found in the burned straw pile while the torso, partly plowed under the surface of the field, was unearthed nearby. Other parts of the body were discovered a short distance away. She was the daughter of Anton J. Wold, a farmer.

Miss Wold's absence had occasioned no alarm as she frequently left home for various periods, visiting neighbors or working on nearby farms. The request two weeks ago of a neighbor for her assistance at housework, however, revealed her disappearance, and her father notified county authorities.

Brandevold was taken into custody Wednesday after the girl's coat and a string of beads had been found on his farm, but he denied all knowledge of the girl's whereabouts. Further search of the farm brought the dismembered body to light yesterday.

Phenomenon Of Saint's Blood Again Is Apparent In Cathedral At Naples

Naples, Italy — (P) — The phenomenon of the boiling up of the blood of St. Januarius, in its receptacle in the Capella del Tesoro cathedral occurred this forenoon, with all Naples' churchbells ringing and the people shouting with joy.

The occurrence, for which science has provided in the past no explanation, came at 9:43 a. m., while a tremendous throng filled the cathedral chanting prayers for the supposed miracle. The phenomenon occurs generally at stated periods. When it fails to materialize the people of Naples fear that a new eruption of Vesuvius is coming or that an earthquake, plague or other calamity impends. Its materialization today was taken as an omen that shocks such as occurred on July 23 or cyclones like that of Aug. 14 will be spared to the city for a considerable time.

From early morning the cathedral was filled with an anxious throng waiting for the clergy to bring out the reliquary with its two phials, the larger, shaped like a flagon four inches high and about two and a quarter in diameter, supposedly containing the blood of Januarius, bishop of Beneventum, who suffered martyrdom in the year 305.

The dark, solid mass in the flask rests within a second or inner phial and presumably is but little affected by outside temperatures. The bottle is firmly sealed by some hard, gummy substance. For more than 400 years liquefaction of this substance has taken place at frequent intervals. The relic is so guarded that to expose it to view, as was done July 25 of this year at the public funeral of earthquake victims in Naples, requires the permission of both civil and ecclesiastical authorities. In 400 years no person has been able to discover what causes the phenomenon.

Of the two flasks one contains only what seems to be a smear. This is not concerned in the happening. Eighteen times in each year a silver bust believed to contain the head of St. Januarius is exposed upon the cathedral altar. This was done today as a part of the ceremony. At the same time the phial was brought out and held by the officiating clergyman in view of the assembly. In the congregation usually are a group of poor women characterized as the "Zie di San Gennaro" (aunts of St. Januarius). They pray louder than all the rest. The custom requires the officiant to hold the reliquary by its extremities without touching the glass and from time to time turn it upside down to note whether any movement is perceptible in the enclosed substance. After an interval, sometimes but two minutes, at other times more than an hour, the mass is seen to detach itself gradually from the glass to become liquid and of a more or less ruby tint, and in some instances, to froth and bubble up, increasing in volume.

The officiant then announces, "Il Miracolo e Fatto," there is singing of a Te Deum and the reliquary, with the contents in its liquefied state, is taken to the altar rail so that all may advance and kiss the containing vessel.

Catholic history says that rarely has the liquefaction failed to take place in the expositions in May or September.

HAND-SHAKERS QUIT AFTER 383 HOURS; ENDURANCE RECORD

Pittsburgh — (P) — Any social or business club in need of a "hand-shake" committee can find it in Joseph Cue and Charles Matthews.

Sept. 2, Joe met Charley. They shook hands. Darned there an idea—call it one, anyway. Each held other he could shake hands the longer.

Last night at the end of the 383rd hour they quit on the advice of a physician.

EDUCATOR TO CONDUCT CONFERENCE AT SCHOOL

J. T. Giles from the office of the state board of education, Madison, will conduct a supervisory conference on high school English in Appleton at 8:30 next Tuesday morning at Lincoln school. Superintendents, principals and supervisors of high school subjects from Appleton, Kaukauna, Neenah, Menasha, Seymour, Hortonville, Little Chute, Kimberly, Combined Locks, Bear Creek and Black Creek will attend.

More freedom for women

No sensible woman will be a drudge in these days of short-cuts. Let modern helps do your work. But be careful not to lose the appeal of "home." One of the strongest appeals of home is delicious preserves made right in your own kitchen with all the strength and goodness of home cooking.

You can short-cut your cooking and still preserve rich, appetizing jams. Let Quixy (the modern pectin powder jelly maker) do the work for you. Get some peaches, grapes or other fall fruits, a package of Quixy at your grocer's and before you realize it you'll have a batch of luscious home made jam.

Quixy makes jelly and jam quickly from any fruit. As easy as the simplest dessert. Thickens your berries or fruit before they have time to lose the fresh color and flavor in boiling. Quixy sold by grocers everywhere. Adv.

HUBER NOMINATED FOR FOURTH TIME

If He's Elected Again, He Will Establish New Record in Office

Madison — (P) — If Henry Huber is reelected lieutenant governor at the general election he will gain the distinction of serving longer than any other lieutenant governor in the history of the state.

Lieut. Gov. Huber was first elected in 1924 and assumed office Jan. 5, 1925. At intervals of two years he has succeeded in being renominated and reelected. Last Tuesday he was renominated for the fourth time.

Edward F. Dithmar of Baraboo was the only other lieutenant governor of Wisconsin to hold the office six years. He served from Jan. 4, 1915 to Jan. 3, 1921. Edward Salomon of Milwaukee served the shortest term as lieutenant governor. He served from Jan. 6, 1882 to April 19, 1882, becoming governor of the state on the latter date, succeeding Gov. Louis P. Harvey Shipper.

James T. Lewis, Columbus, the fourth lieutenant governor was the first to serve more than one term. He served from Jan. 2, 1854 to Jan. 7, 1858. John E. Holmes of Jefferson was the first lieutenant governor of the state. He began a two year term on Jan. 7, 1848. Henry Huber is the 25th man to hold the office.

Four lieutenant governors have occupied the chief executive chair. James T. Lewis served as governor from Jan. 4, 1854 to Jan. 1, 1858. Arthur McArthur of Milwaukee sat in the executive chair for five days, from Mar. 21, 1856 to Mar. 25, 1856. Salomon and James O. Davidson of Soldiers Grove were the other lieutenant governors who became chief executives. The latter served from Jan. 1, 1906 to Jan. 2, 1911, succeeding Robert M. LaFollette who resigned to become United States senator.

Plane Crash Victim Had Forebodings Of Tragedy

San Diego, Calif. — (P) — Farewell letters indicate that forebodings of disaster rode with Ruth Alexander, a secret bride, when she met death at the outset of a projected one-stop transcontinental flight.

One was addressed to her parents, requesting a quiet funeral in case of death. The other was to her husband, Robert A. Elliott, reserve naval pilot and her former flying instructor. Together with the letters found in her hotel room was a marriage certificate which showed they were married at Yuma, Ariz., June 21.

She wrote: "To my husband, Bob: 'Life is strange, honey. If I have preceded you do not grieve for me. But be content. Finish your work down here and make me proud of you, as I ever will be at your side.'"

"And when you come I will welcome you. Always I will love and wait for you. And, sweetheart, keep my pretty wedding ring always with you. Ruth."

A wedding ring, a tiny silver circle set with small diamonds, was in the flatter's jewel box in her hotel room here. Nearly were the notes.

The fatal flight began at the Agua Caliente, Mexico, airport at 1 o'clock a. m., yesterday. Soon after Miss Alexander landed at the Lindbergh field here for checking.

Although heavy fog was rolling in from the ocean, Miss Alexander, believing she could rise above it, took off at 2:28 a. m., for Wichita, Kas., her only planned stop in a flight to New York.

She climbed 500 feet above the field and then flew in the direction of Point Loma. A few minutes later a terrific crash was heard and when searchers reached the spot four miles north of the airport they found her broken body, with that of her tiny terrier mascot, in the shattered fuselage. Parts of the plane were scattered over a wide area.

OFFER AVIATION COURSE AT VOCATIONAL SCHOOL

The University of Wisconsin extension division has secured an instructor to teach aviation at evening classes in vocational schools of Appleton, Wausau, Milwaukee and Manitowish, according to Marshall C. Graft, district director.

Patrick Case, former naval flier, and instructor in aeronautics at the naval base in San Diego, Calif., will be the instructor. He will teach at Milwaukee two days, one at Manitowish, one at Wausau, and one day in Appleton.

His courses of study are divided into two groups, elementary and advanced aviation. The courses are divided into four parts: Aeronautics, study of airplane engines, navigation and meteorology.

Opening, Sat., Sept. 20, afternoon and eve. Log Cabin, 6 mi. north of Appleton on Highway 41. Chicken Lunch served. Under New Management.

machines with glaring lights, single lights, no tail lights, and others. Under the law, Chief Prim said, it is necessary for those motorists whose machines have been tagged, to visit an official headlight testing station and have their lights tested and adjusted.

The tag given to the motorist then is filled out by the state attendant and this tag must be returned to the police department within the specified time. Failure to return the tag means that a warrant may be issued for the laggardly driver.

Chief Prim said a number of motorists had failed to return these tags and that he is planning to issue warrants for their arrest. Unless the tags are turned in within the next day or two, the chief said, there would be several motorists facing a fine as the result of failure to fulfill the orders of motorcycle officers.

WOMEN PREPARE TO START THEIR OWN BANKING HOUSE

New York Widow Launches Bank to Be Run by Women for Women

BY LEMUEL F. PARTON
Copyright 1930, By Cons. Press.
New York (CPA)—Just as John B. Watson, the psychologist, says that the idea of women in business is "all rot," Mrs. A. Barton Hepburn, widow of the widely known New York financier, plans to start a big, metropolitan woman's bank, with the board of directors composed entirely of women.

Mrs. Hepburn became the first woman bank director in Wall street, with her election to the board of the industrial banking corporation of America, a few weeks ago. Associated with her husband in the control of large affairs, she disclosed marked financial ability on her own account and is moving up rapidly to a position of assured leadership in big business and finance.

Mrs. Hepburn was an active suffragist, associated with such women as Carrie Chapman Catt, Mrs. Raymond Brown and Mrs. George B. Case in the critical days of the movement. Hence her plan for a woman's bank, made public today, carries with it an ardent championship of women's financial competence and male dominance in this field.

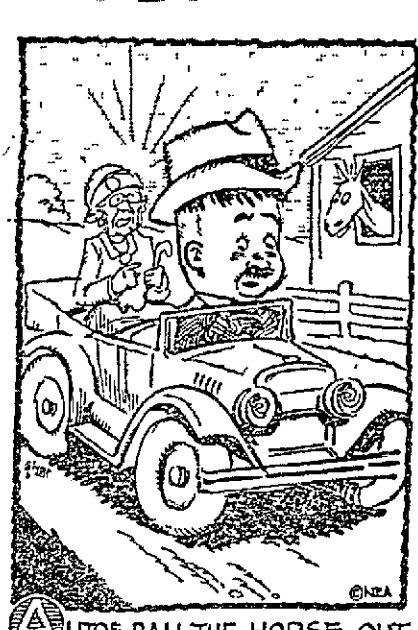

"The aim of the bank," the announcement stated, "is to serve women's welfare variously, effectively—significantly—to arouse women to a realization of the great opportunities they are now missing in the activities of the world and to awaken in them an intelligently keen interest in business, in investments and the provisions and processes of the law—so as to protect their own interest and so inform themselves in practicalities that they will have confidence and courage to assume responsibilities and maintain an influential part in the business sphere."

"We are not going to be poseurs, to ask the world to consider us as wonder objects. We are going to be bankers, practicing banking in the straightest and strictest, the fullest and the broadest sense. We shall command resources sufficient to merit consideration in the larger phases of modern business. And as they who are the heads of our historically preeminent institutions are running their banks—to meet modern business demands, to perform modern public service, to earn dividends and make surpluses—so, precisely so, shall we run ours."

"Can women be prosperously self-reliant? We hope to prove it—by what every man extols as 'results.' Has woman the capacity to prove that she has—by achievement?"

As Mrs. Hepburn and her associates thus bravely declare themselves in on the Wall Street doings, it is noted that few of the ardent suffragists of other years have gone out for political plums. The militant wing of the suffrage party either faded out or consecrated itself to a lifelong battle against discriminatory legislation. The conservative wing, to which Mrs. Hepburn belonged, has sent few, if any, women to office. New York women's Republican clubs recently have been troubled by the finding that nearly half their members aren't interested in politics, and vote as their husbands vote. "The more the change, the more of the same thing," as the French put it.

Sez Hugh:

AUTOS RAN THE HORSE OUT BUT HAD NO EFFECT ON THE NAG!

But enfranchised women are beginning to take notice of the fact that, with the steady accumulation of estates and the increase in life insurance, women own just about half, or maybe more of the wealth of the country; that 80 per cent of the savings bank deposits of the country are those of women and that 55 per cent of salaries and wages is spent by women. In New York and other large cities, there are many women employed in high salaried positions in banks, trust companies, and brokerage houses, but they have not gained membership on boards of directors. Down in Wall Street, brokers report that, all in all, women showed just as much sagacity and business ability as men, during the period of public participation in the bull market. One charming young woman almost but not quite bought a seat on the stock exchange.

But, while lace curtains and window boxes may yet deck the stock exchange, there is one safe arcanum still uninvaded. Babe Ruth and Hack Wilson are still the home run kings.

Plant Iris Seeds Now To Get Blossoms In '31

What is more lovely in springtime than a mass of exquisite Irises along a walk or in the border? These dainty flowers are easy to grow and offer the greatest amount of floral beauty for the least amount of effort. They flourish under neglect which would kill a rose in two weeks, and upon ground that would starve a peony to a shadow. Any location which is drained and sunny will content them. But only a very thoughtless gardener would neglect his Irises so, for like everything else, they appreciate treatment and readily repay it.

And what a repayment it is! From April when the first dwarfs poke their bonnets just above the ground through May and June, when the Tall Bearded Irises sway in elegance upon their lofty stems, until the magnificent Japs bring the season to a close in July—three months at least!

Irises are broadly classified into three groups—the Tall Bearded, the Japanese, and others. It is difficult to select favorite varieties, but the pale blue and lavender sorts of the taller kinds seem most popular, although yellow, mahogany, smoky purple and the other dull, soft shades are equally attractive.

The Tall Bearded group has found greatest favor in this country, for their gorgeous, long-stemmed blooms come in every tint of the rainbow except true pink and red. They begin to bloom in May, continuing through June, well into the blooming time of the Japanese type. Once planted, the members of the Tall Bearded family take care of themselves indefinitely. They demand the least of the gardener, yet they contribute the most beautiful blooms of the race. They are especially satisfactory in gardens that are subject to long, dry, hot spells which are so disastrous to less adaptable plants.

For most pleasing color effects plant Irises in masses of at least three or four of each variety. The waves of color which result from masses of varying hues are as delightful as the lover rainbow, and it is easy to understand why the Iris has been called the "Rainbow Flower."

There is an ever-increasing interest in the Japanese Iris—the most gorgeous of the family. They are easy to grow, and as far as magnificence and beauty go, there is no doubt that these oriental cousins stand at the head of the list. The flowers are flat, often 10 to 12 inches across, and their rich colors speak of the splendor of the mystic East. The stems are long and straight and may be cut like bundles of reeds before the top bud opens and every flower will open in water indoors.

Japanese Irises like rich soil and they should be watered heavily every day a few weeks before they bloom and while they are in flower.

During their flowering season they can scarcely be fed too much. You will be astonished with the results if you keep this in mind.

Somewhat similar to the Japanese Iris in their fondness for water and their late blooming season, are the tall graceful Siberian Irises, upon whose lofty stems a perfect cloud of delicately graceful blooms flutter like a host of butterflies. They are often planted about the edges of pools.

Like Peonies, there are a host of new and improved varieties of Irises appearing each year. You will want to include some of these newer kinds in your outdoor living room, perhaps substituting them in place of the older varieties which you have had for some time. Plant them this fall for they will then become well settled in their new location and will bloom next spring. By delaying until next year the plants will lose the benefit of a whole season's growth, and you will be denied their delightful blooms that much longer.

LAWRENCE COLLEGE CAMPAIGN

The intensive campaign designed to give every person in Appleton an opportunity to repay in some measure the debt of gratitude which this community owes to Lawrence college is underway. It is the final phase of an effort to raise $250,000 for an increased working fund for Lawrence. The first phase of the campaign, conducted among the manufacturers and large givers, was highly successful; the second phase, in which special gifts were sought, promises to reach expectations and now the final phase opens the way to all the men and women of the city to do their bit for Appleton's great school.

R. N. Van Doren, vice president of the Chicago and Northwestern railroad, who has observed Lawrence college and the city of Appleton with the detached view of an outsider, sounded the keynote Wednesday night when he declared that the college, in its 80 years of existence, has been the incentive and the spur which built Appleton as the cultural leader of the Fox river valley. No one can question the statement that the college has been the greatest single influence upon the business and home life of this community.

In the eighty years that Lawrence has been here, however, Appleton people have done very little for the school. Research showed that the financial contribution of the mass of citizens to Lawrence has been entirely insignificant compared with the help it has received from sources outside the city, and much more insignificant compared with the tremendous contribution the college has made to the business prosperity of Appleton.

This situation is due largely, perhaps, to the fact that Lawrence has seldom asked the citizens of Appleton for help. It has been possible to operate and enlarge the school without an appeal direct to the citizens, but now the time has arrived when Lawrence needs this assistance and it has been assured that it will get the help it so richly deserves.

A refusal to contribute to the fund which Lawrence is seeking is tantamount to stating that Lawrence college means nothing to Appleton, that it is not an asset to the city and that it is not deserving of support. No sane person can think or say that. The record of Lawrence college is too apparent, too glittering, to permit anyone to plead ignorance of the part the school plays in this community.

The plan adopted in the campaign makes it possible to spread payment of contributions over a period of three and one-half years so there can be no valid excuse of financial stringency. A refusal to help, in most instances, must be regarded as an expression of either animosity or antipathy toward the college.

GERMANY'S HARD TIMES

If you think times are hard in the United States today, just give a thought to what the Germans are up against.

A recent dispatch from Ruth Finney, reporter, points out that of 40,000,000 German men and women of voting age, nearly one-third are dependent on public funds for food and shelter—not counting government employees. The German government last year spent about $1,250,000,000 for all purposes. Of this sum more than half was devoted to the support of 12,000,000 persons who were entirely dependent on the state.

Wage reductions are proposed for German industry; but skilled workers now only average $16.25 a week, and unskilled workers get around $10.

SOUTH AMERICAN PROGRESS

Within the last few months the governments of three South American republics, Bolivia, Peru and Argentina have been overthrown by revolution. The coincidence has no particular significance, owing to the fact that the "revolutions," which were essentially peaceful, occurred from different causes and concerned nations of divergent constitution. According to the professor of Latin American history and economics at Harvard university, Mr. C. H. Haring, the formulas of a democratic republic are still to be achieved in Bolivia and Peru. This, however, is not the case in Argentina. This republic in common with Chile and Uruguay is a more purely Latin-American state of European origin, in contrast with the semi-Indian states like those of the western coast. Uruguay has become highly stable while Chile is extending all her efforts toward industrialization.

Argentina is described by Prof. Haring as a responsible, progressive democracy. Violent revolution there has become an anachronism. Not only is it one of the best governed countries of South America, despite the graft and corruption which has been uncovered in the recent upheaval, but in the opinion of political experts, is destined to become a world power. Brazil has more serious problems to work out before she can be regarded as a truly consolidated and stable nation. Several of her states are almost as important financially and politically as the nation itself, and there are climatic disadvantages that retard development. Nevertheless, there is a vast part of Brazil capable of colonization and improvement, and if this is brought about by sound European stock, as it undoubtedly will be, a great transformation will be wrought in Brazil.

As a whole, the continent of South America is making phenomenal progress. It is destined to big things. Some one has said that the nineteenth century belonged to North American expansion, the twentieth century to South America. It is unfortunate that revolutions still occur there from time to time because they tend to cause Americans to place all South American nations in the same class as irresponsible republics. These revolutions furthermore depress the market rating of South American securities below their real worth and make it more difficult for them to adequately finance themselves. The change of government in Argentina reflects nothing against the nation; on the contrary it strengthens its position and advances its interests. It represents, in brief, a wholesome housecleaning, something every nation can stand from time to time.

WAGES UP, COSTS DOWN

Workers in the building trades enjoy, on the average, very high wages. Very often people who complain of high building costs blame these wages, and assert that everything would be lovely if only the wages could be materially reduced.

A recent bulletin from the Austin Company of Cleveland, one of the largest industrial construction firms in the country, does not seem to agree with this thesis, however.

The Austin Company reports that industrial building costs today are the lowest in eight years. Except for a period in 1922, they have not been so low since 1916. The bulletin remarks: "All of the decline is due largely to falling prices of materials and greater efficiency of labor and construction equipment. Wage rates at 185 per cent over the 1913 level continue at the peak for all time, while all building costs, including labor, are less than 40 per cent over 1913."

Which would seem to be a pretty fair answer to the attempt to blame union labor for high construction prices.

We note where the professional tennis stars are having their tournament at Forest Hills. There is something to ponder over, though, when one realizes that Big Bill Tilden, noted amateur luminary, makes more as a direct result of his tennis than does the highest-paid professional.

The Giants and Pirates are going to do a post-season stand in Havana beginning on October tenth. And if the Cubs drop another game or so, Chicago will have a city series this year.

Which will probably be hard on Pat Flanagan who shoots baseball games for WBBM. Pat is the shining example of a Cub fan, and he won't let anybody forget it.

And as long as we have turned sports dopester for the moment, let us add that not too much need be expected from Wisconsin's football team this fall. Something startling might happen, but things just don't point that way at this time.

They're cheering the new president of Argentina just now, but next month they may be taking pot shots at him.

Time to start looking for the red flannels.

BATTLE BEMIS HEIGHTS

On September 19, 1777, the Americans, under General Gates, checked the advance of the British commanded by General Burgoyne at the first Battle of Bemis Heights, or Saratoga. It was one of the most desperately fought battles of the Revolutionary War.

Gates had been sent by Congress to supersede Schuyler and fight Burgoyne's center. He therefore entrenched himself at Bemis Heights on ground fortified by the famous Polish volunteer, Kosciuszko.

Burgoyne was anxious to reach Albany, but not daring to leave the American forces in his rear, he advanced and attacked them. Both armies fought stubbornly and neither could claim a victory. Historians are now inclined to give the Americans the edge because the British lost twice as many men and were obliged to delay their advance.

The second Battle of Bemis Heights, fought less than a month later, was won by the Americans with the courageous assistance of Morgan and Arnold. Finally, Burgoyne fell back to Saratoga, six miles distant, and there, on October 17, surrendered. This was the first great victory of the Americans. Nearly 6,000 prisoners and a large quantity of arms were seized. When the news reached London, Pitt (Lord Chatham) declared in Parliament, "My lords, you cannot conquer America."

LOOKING BACKWARD

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Friday, Sept. 22, 1905

The Lawrence university football team left that afternoon for Chicago where they were to meet Coach Stagg's Maroons of Chicago university the next day.

A marriage license had been issued to John Stroud, Plymouth, and Molly Kullgren, Appleton.

Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Collar attended the Hortonsville fair that day.

The annual walk around at the high school was to be held that evening.

Joseph Steele returned the previous evening from a two weeks' visit in the east.

Mrs. John H. Neller was in St. Cloud, Minn., visiting with her sister, Mrs. Carl Mathie.

C. G. Deland, Fond du Lac, was in Appleton to visit with his son, L. C. Deland.

Mrs. Bissinger, Mr. and Mrs. J. Hauert, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hauert were visitors at the Hortonsville fair.

John B. Beemer and daughter, Mrs. S. A. Miller, returned the preceding night from a visit in the east.

The Rev. and Mrs. Theodore Marth returned from Milwaukee the day before where they had been visiting relatives.

TEN YEARS AGO

Friday, Sept. 17, 1920

The assessed valuation of personal property in Outagamie county according to the returns of assessors was $15,059,501.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Heinritz, 780 Rankin st., the day before.

Mrs. C. D. Thompson and Miss Lucy Verity had returned from Clover Leaf Lake where they had been camping.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Gibson, Robert Gibson, and Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Vaser left the day before for Pasadena, Calif., on an extended motor trip.

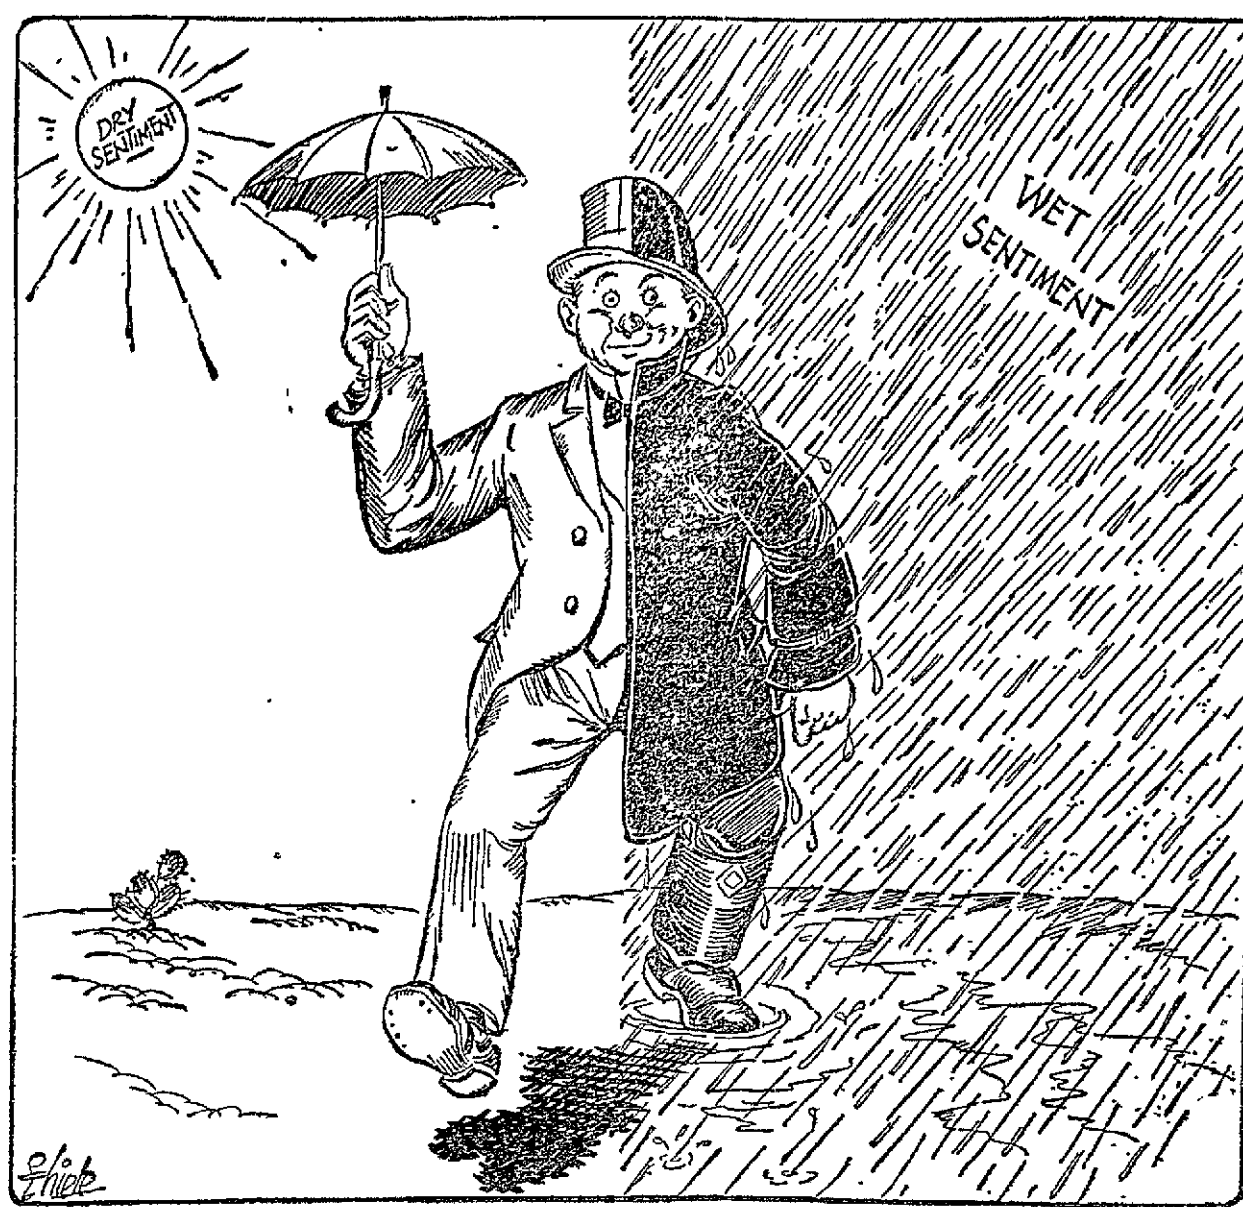

Mrs. Edward Kurrer and Mrs. G. W. Kaufman had been elected delegates to the twelfth annual convention of the Women's Missionary society of the Wisconsin conference to be held at Milwaukee, at the meeting of the Women's Missionary society of Trinity Lutheran church the preceding Thursday.

Jordan Webb left that day for Philadelphia, Pa., where he was to attend the University of Pennsylvania that year.

The Misses Josephine and Helen Bradford were to leave for Madison the following Monday to attend the University of Wisconsin.

W. C. Brill and Walter Zischewer left on a three day's motor trip to the northern part of the state.

AND HOW'S YOUR INDIGESTION?

There are lots of nice things, pleasant things, which I might say here, were it not for my reputation. I might say I have a cure for this or that, or I might tell you such and such will cure so and so. I might say that if you have the right advice (for which send $48.50 in six easy payments) you really do not need to submit to an operation or take out a second mortgage or move to another climate or go to the sanitarium.

Were it not for my reputation I might even quote here, verbatim, some of the things bigger and better doctors say about methods of preventing or curing complaints which a lot of our readers have. I am speaking of my reputation as a health teacher merely. Not long ago I hauled off and said something here with the intention in the world but with rather startling effects. I said that I believe doing thus and so might prevent the development of a fairly common and discouraging ailment.

Please don't send me any more pamphlets. I have THREE Just tell me what every third month means. (W. M.)

Answer.—Well, it's like this. Take any year, no matter which, say 1930. Count all the months in it and you'll find there are just 12, one dozen, or as many months as you have fingers and two more. Now, then, suppose you were to divide this year 1930 into four seasons or quarters of equal length, each quarter having three months in it. Then go down to the drugstore or the hardware and purchase a packet of tabs or house numbers or something. Have 'em delivered to your office. Then summon your stenographer and her secretary and instruct them to affix the tabs or numbers to the several parcels of months in homologous order. In a week or so you will find that, say, March, June, September and December are the third months of the four quarters or seasons that is, unless the staff happens to prefer some other division of the year. Ordinarily, however, the months mentioned make very satisfactory third months in which to take your iodine or whatever it may be that you plan to do every third month of the year. If we have designated other months in the pamphlet on iodine ration, no matter—no harm in being just a bit different from your neighbor in a minor detail of life. As long as you get your drop of iodine daily for a month in each of the four seasons of the year, all will be well. Maybe it will even brighten your intellect some. A suitable iodine ration does improve the mind of some dumb people. I've been taking it for years, and I am afraid I still need it.

A suitable iodine ration does improve the mind of some dumb people. I've been taking it for years, and I am afraid I still need it.

Answer.—Well, it's like this. Take any year, no matter which, say 1930. Count all the months in it and you'll find there are just 12, one dozen, or as many months as you have fingers and two more. Now, then, suppose you were to divide this year 1930 into four seasons or quarters of equal length, each quarter having three months in it. Then go down to the drugstore or the hardware and purchase a packet of tabs or house numbers or something. Have 'em delivered to your office. Then summon your stenographer and her secretary and instruct them to affix the tabs or numbers to the several parcels of months in homologous order. In a week or so you will find that, say, March, June, September and December are the third months of the four quarters or seasons that is, unless the staff happens to prefer some other division of the year. Ordinarily, however, the months mentioned make very satisfactory third months in which to take your iodine or whatever it may be that you plan to do every third month of the year. If we have designated other months in the pamphlet on iodine ration, no matter—no harm in being just a bit different from your neighbor in a minor detail of life. As long as you get your drop of iodine daily for a month in each of the four seasons of the year, all will be well. Maybe it will even brighten your intellect some. VOGT AGAIN PUTS IN PLEA FOR MORE PAVING ON STREETS

Hard Surfaced Thoroughfares Cheaper in Long Run,
He Points Out

Armed with figures showing the high cost of annually repairing dirt streets in Appleton, Alderman Philip Vogt again presented to the common council Wednesday night his plan of encouraging street paving by dividing the interest on paving bonds between the property holder and the city.

Mr. Vogt feels that if part of the money now spent on repairs on dirt streets were applied as part payment of paving bond interest property owners could be more readily induced to have their streets paved.

In his investigation of records since 1927, Alderman Vogt discovered that major repairs every two years on a selected list of streets comprising 15 miles amounted to $32,134, and the minor repairs on these same streets aggregated $19,450. This does not include any oiling cost, which amounts to $92,737 on the average of every three years.

From studying city paving contracts for the last four years, Mr. Vogt found that a mile of city street paving (32 feet wide with curb and gutter, including intersections) costs $50,000. Fifteen miles, therefore, would cost $750,000.

Assuming that the 15 miles would be paved in one year, and that property owners would pay only the initial payment of one tenth or $75,000, the city's share of the three per cent interest on the remaining $675,000 would be $108,250. Mr. Vogt's contention is that if these streets were left unpaved the major repair cost, not figuring minor repairs, oiling or covering, for the same 15 miles over the same period of years would be $160,870. Briefly, by giving the property holders the aid of three per cent interest, the city would show an actual saving of $57,420.42.

Oiling and minor repairs are counted, Mr. Vogt shows, an additional $167,397 would be saved.

Mr. Vogt would have the paving bonds divided over a period of 10 years, and issued so that one-tenth of the bonds expire each year, thereby decreasing the amount of interest by one-tenth of the total each year.

The matter was turned over to the finance committee.

Mrs. Beery Returns to Hollywood

Mrs. Marguerite Beery, wife of the famous movie star, Noah Beery, who had been missing for over a week, was back in Hollywood Thursday, stating that she had been to Las Vegas to establish a residence and that there was nothing mysterious about her departure. Mr. and Mrs. Beery are shown here in a photograph taken on the veranda of their home at Hollywood.

DONOVAN ASKS REPEAL OF 18TH AMENDMENT

New York—(AP)—Col. William J. Donovan, former assistant attorney general of the United States and once prominently mentioned for the attorney generalship in the cabinet of President Hoover, declared for repeal of the eighteenth amendment in an address Thursday before the Young Republican club.

Asserting that the eighteenth amendment had failed and nullification had "not proved practicable," he urged that the Republican party in New York state take a position on prohibition which "has the dignity, integrity and appeal of an honest conviction."

"It should continue," he said of the party in the state, "to endorse the ideal of temperance and to aid actively in its attainment through effectual liquor regulation. The eighteenth amendment has failed to accomplish this purpose and should be repealed."

"However, we cannot urge repeal alone. We must make sure that a sincere effort will be made to prevent a recurrence of ancient evils."

Instead of attempting to exact the cooperation of the states by coercion, truly effective regulation should be sought. Congress should exercise its constitutional power to control the liquor traffic and should fulfill its constitutional duty to protect the states from violation of their laws without.

He likened the position of the Republican party today to the plight of the Whig party before the Civil war.

Students Practicing? No, It's Just Piano Tuning

The tune emitting from Lawrence Conservatory of Music these days, the one that sounds like chickens pecking on the rusty bottom of a tin pan, isn't a modernistic version of Danse Macabre or the Baccanale from Samson and Delilah. It's just plain piano-tuning—in mass production.

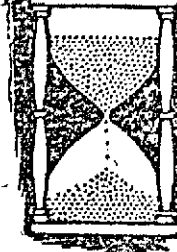

Opening the Conservatory for the winter term is a far more difficult task than opening any other college building. It doesn't mean merely starting a fire in the furnace, waxing the floors and weatherstripping the doors. It means hauling 15 to 20 pianos to the basement studios, and tuning about 50 pianos and four pipe organs, key by key.

Every spring, because of the dampness of the basement through the summer, all practice pianos are hauled from the down floor and stored in studios on first floor. In fall they must be returned to the basement practice rooms, and with the other 30 pianos in the conservatory, tuned by E. C. Moore. There are 35 practice, 21 studio and two concert grand pianos for recital purposes in the conservatory, as well as two pipe organs. There are also two concert grands and a pipe organ in Lawrence Memorial chapel, and pianos in all dormitories. All practice pianos are uprights, covered with felt to prevent unnecessary marring.

Hills Bros Coffee is as rich in aroma and flavor as when it came from the roaster

FRESH from the original vacuum pack. EASILY opened with the key. LOOK for the Arab on the can.

You broil the steak evenly by letting it cook on each side a little at a time. Hills Bros. roast their coffee evenly by roasting only a few pounds at a time.

THE WAY Hills Bros. Coffee is roasted—the way it is packed—brings a distinctive wealth of flavor and goodness to every cup you make.

Only a few pounds at a time are roasted by Hills Bros.' patented, continuous process—Controlled Roasting. No bulk-roasting method can roast every berry so evenly as this process. Naturally, no other coffee can have the same delicious flavor that Hills Bros. Coffee has.

Because Hills Bros. Coffee is packed in vacuum tins, air, that destroys the flavor, is completely removed at the time of packing and kept out. No ordinary air-tight tin will keep coffee fresh. The Hills Bros. Coffee you buy is just as fresh as when it came from the roaster.

Ask for Hills Bros. Coffee by name and look for the Arab on the can. Sold by grocers everywhere.

Women Are Entertained At Clubhouse

WITH the clubhouse banked with a fall display of asters, dahlias and zinnias, 60 Appleton women were entertained at a housewarming at the Appleton Woman's club Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. E. V. Werner, president of the club, opened the program with a talk on the value of Appleton women conserving their resources and using them for the benefit of others. She described the club's plans for the year and showed how cooperation among women of the club could be of advantage to the women of the city and at the same time help the club to attain a position where it can again branch out to far-reaching activities.

Mrs. Mabel Shannon, chairman of the citizenship committee, Mrs. L. J. Marshall, head of the health committee, Mrs. J. O'Connor, chairman of the garden group, and Mrs. H. L. Davis of the hospitality department, described their various departments, and Mrs. W. A. Schenck, E. North-st., talked on the organization of a puppet department. Mrs. Schenck, whose hobby is the collection of puppets, displayed her collection at the meeting.

Tea was served by the hospital-ity committee under the direction of Mrs. A. H. Zuehlke.

Contributors to the flower display were the Weimer gardens, John Conway, P. A. Paulson, Herman Holtz and Mark Cathlin.

At present the recreational department of the woman's club is extended only as far as the Girl Scouts, under the direction of Miss Dorothy Cathlin, but it is hoped by October arrangements can be made to resume swimming classes at the Y. M. C. A. A series of card parties, the first to be held at the club on Oct. 4, has been planned by the hospitality committee.

Phi Mu entertained at its annual formal Rose and White dinner in the Crystal room of the Conway hotel. Speeches were given, and dancing and music provided entertainment. About 50 persons were present.

The alumnae of Alpha Delta Pi entertained rushes at the annual Adelinean dinner. Each year Alpha Delta Pi celebrates its founding in 1851 with an old-fashioned party for rushes, with guests attired in antiquated gowns. Miss Phoebe Nickels, Green Bay, played several cello selections, a student of Miss Vesper Chamberlin danced and Miss Mary Glenn Jackson of Escanaba, Mich., sang. Miss Esther Graef of this city gave a short talk on the history of the sorority.

A formal progressive dinner was given Thursday evening by Beta Phi Alpha. Courses were served at the homes of Mrs. A. F. Zuehlke, Pacificist, and Mrs. Ed. Schmiede, Harris-st. Miniature candle holders were given as favors.

Eighteen rushes of Delta Gamma were entertained at a progressive dinner at the homes of Mrs. R. K. Wolters, Vine-st., and Mrs. L. H. Moore, Eldorado-st. Ruth Nickel was in charge of arrangements.

Delta Iota entertained 15 rushes at a dinner and smoker at the fraternity house last night. Emily Anzorge was in charge of the affair.

Theta Phi gave a dinner at the house, with a smoker at the Richard Thieckens home, Park-st., following.

Thirty rushes were guests of Beta Sigma Phi at a dinner at the house and a theatre party at Oshkosh. Sheldon Dodge of Wausau was chairman of the committee in charge.

Fifteen rushes were entertained at a dinner and smoker at the Psi Chi Omega house. A round of miniature golf was played after the party.

Phi Kappa Tau fraternity entertained at luncheon and dinner at the fraternity house Thursday. During the afternoon golf and tennis were played.

A luncheon at the fraternity house at noon and a steak fry at the Chaffee cottage on Lake Winnebago at night entertained rushes of Delta Sigma Tau Thursday. Sigma Phi Epsilon entertained at a luncheon and dinner at the fraternity house.

The Story of Sue

by MARGERY HALE
© 1929 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

CORRINE lay very still in the shadow of the rock as the voices came to her. Then her eyes opened wide. Julie Gerard was speaking. She recognized the husky tones, the throaty laugh.

"But you don't understand, Jack. Of course I don't want you to marry me. . . not loving me! But what am I to do? That flapper wife of Harry Becker has made me ridiculous. And everyone thinks you like me. You let me believe it. And now if you go away . . ."

"Hang it all, Julia, no one gave two thoughts to you or what you have been doing. And people always meet and separate at these places. Cheer up! You haven't anything to worry about."

"Then you mean you don't want . . . to marry me?" A curious hard streak, like rough metal, edged its way into the throaty voice.

"You're a peach for some man, Julia, you need someone your own age."

"My own age?" She fairly screamed the words. "That's it. That . . . that Corrine person made you think I was old. That was a trick she wants you . . . yes, she does . . . or why would she bother to put me out?"

"Don't be a fool," Jack answered. "That's dumb. Corrine can't see anyone but Harry."

"You . . . you've been playing with me? You aren't going to marry me?" Julia asked.

"I'm sorry, Julia. I thought you understood. I like you splendidly as a friend but . . ."

"As a friend! Don't you know men and women can't be friends? They have to be more . . . or less. I guess you are a child, a stupid child. But you'll be sorry. You'll regret this. Just you wait." She made a dive for him and Corrine caught the glint of something shining in her hand.

"Corrine decided that it was time to appear."

"Good evening, Mrs. Gerard. Hello, Jack? Why the melodrama?" she asked, suddenly appearing by the door. "I guess I must have fallen asleep and I did not waken until you came. I didn't mean to listen, but at first I thought I was still dreaming, and it was such a good show. Go on, Mrs. Gerard, the first act was a knockout."

"You . . . you . . ." The woman's voice hissed.

"Better put down your gun. It might accidentally go off, and think of the things the public would learn if you had a trial."

"Corrine, I'm dreadfully sorry," Jack was explaining. "But you shouldn't be up here at this hour alone. It isn't safe."

"I've just learned that it isn't. I guess I fell asleep and forgot to wake up at dinner time," she lied gaily. "It's a good thing, though. I've gathered enough to be a capital witness for the breach of promise suit."

"I'm leaving. I won't stay at this place another day," Julia was saying. "I . . . I thought you were rich. And you're not! It's Harry Becker that's rich! And I would have married you anyway. I'd have been poor for you . . ."

"She turned and walked back along the path down which she had come. Maybe she thought she was Cleopatra but she couldn't have launched Troy's navy," Corrine said idly, sinking back on her blanket. "I had a fight with Harry, Jack. The first rift in love's young dream. That's why I'm here."

My Neighbor Says---

To remove glass stoppers in cologne bottles dip them in hot water, or place over the steam in a kettle. This will loosen a stopper so it may be easily removed.

When kerosene is spilled, the stain may be entirely removed by the application of lime-water.

Clear ammonia—pure, not household, will remove paint from windows, even when it has been on a long time. Apply with a scrubbing brush.

Before skinning tomatoes for salad, place them in a basin and pour boiling water over them. The skin will then peel off without any trouble.

YOU'LL ENJOY A SUNDAY CHICKEN DINNER At The CENTRAL HOTEL Chilton On Highway 57 Henry Sauter, Mgr.

"IN A MINUTE"

Children are busy people. They live in their own world. When we break into their scheme we interrupt things and all interruption is painful and unpleasant. No child likes to be interrupted. All children must be interrupted at one time or another.

"Bert, come now and get ready for lunch."

"In a minute, mother."

A minute passes and others with it and still Bert plays on with never a thought of the cooling lunch. Finally his mother goes out and brings him in forcibly. She is out of patience and Bert is outraged. And that is a great waste of energy.

The older child gets deep into his book or his project. He is called to do this or that necessary errand or keep an appointment. It is time to go for a music lesson; time to get ready for bed; time to start for school; the procrastinator continues to go his own way. "By and by, mother, by and by. Can't you wait a minute?" I'm coming, Goodness. I just want to finish this chapter. Have I been late this term? Well, that was because the clock was wrong."

You know the story. What can we do about this? It is a very bad habit to form because it hinders all progress by and by. Nobody can wait for a person who has no sense of time. Life passes by them and their lot is unhappy.

Start when the children are little and teach them to follow a program. Make the first thing to be done at a set time—rising, meals, play, naps, bedtime. Establish that routine. As the child grows older expand the program always holding to the plan laid down. Any change in it must be considered by both sides and adjustments made with thoughtful care.

In reminding a child of his duty try to give him a few moments leeway. "John, in five minutes you will have to stop. In five minutes you must come in to get ready for your dinner." That gives the child a chance to prepare himself, close up his work with a feeling of completeness at least for the time. If you call suddenly he is upset and has a feeling of incompleteness that makes him restless.

When you say five minutes it must be exactly that; when you say seven o'clock it must be seven. If you prolong the time, if you say it is seven when it is ten minutes to seven, you teach procrastination in a most thorough way. Keep accurate time. Have the clock right. Then the children will know what five minutes means and will behave accordingly. If it is seven minutes one time, fifteen another, without limit another, it has lost all meaning and you have this sort of child to manage.

Set a good example. Keep your appointments on time so that the children learn the importance of promptness. Most of this trouble is born of the family's negligence. It is hard to get up in the morning. (Copyright, 1930, by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

$1,800 VOTED BY COUNCIL TO BUY BAND UNIFORMS

Request from Board of Education Is Approved by Aldermen

Neenah—A sum of $1,800 was appropriated by the city council Thursday evening meeting for the purchase of uniforms for the high school band. The request was made by the board of education. The band already is equipped with instruments. The band, it was pointed out, is being called upon for concerts and recitals and a uniformed organization will present a better appearance.

An ordinance to tax and regulate taxicabs and such vehicles used for hire, as a public safety measure for those who patronize them.

ASKS FOR RELIEF

Peter Crevin, fifth-street resident, asked the council to ask relief from a nuisance which he alleged was caused near his property by a person who is keeping three deer, more than 200 chickens, doves and pheasants, besides a number of dogs and other animals, in a yard around which has been erected a high board fence. The stench from the property is terrible, Mr. Crevin claimed, and the noise from the dogs and animals created a disturbance at all times. He was promised relief by Mayor George Sande.

The suggestion of collecting garbage in the fall as well as in the spring, made by the mayor, met the approval of the aldermen. Action will be taken at the next meeting when an ordinance will be prepared by John O'Leary, city attorney, for presentation. Objection has been raised about people burning garbage in the roads. This practice will have to be stopped, according to a motion adopted by the council and those with garbage will have to dispose of it in some other manner.

Petitions for grading and grading Chestnut and Maple streets were approved. A petition for a street light in the center of the block on Elm-street, between Division and Washington, and a light on Grant-street, were approved.

Extension of Jackson-street across the Soo-line tracks was left with the mayor and city attorney, who will confer with railway officials in an effort to grant the request of property owners on those streets.

REPORT ON WELL

The committee on water works reported that work on the well sunk at the waterworks has been completed and tests were being made as to flow and quality of water. Dynamite was used to secure a better flow and in several places struts will have to be cast off in order to secure a better grade of water.

The ordinance designating the entire west side of Second-street from Nicolet-blvd to Clark-street as a no parking area was discussed again. The ordinance was originally drafted to clear the block between Nicolet-blvd and Hewitt-street of parked cars, especially on Sunday mornings when people are attending church. The same condition exists near Theda Clark hospital where parked cars block the street to traffic.

The finance committee reported on bills amounting to $4,819.25, which were approved.

Before the council adjourned, former alderman Louis Herziger asked permission to entertain the street commissioner and his crew and the waterworks superintendent and his crew at his summer home, the men to receive their full day's pay under the same arrangements as last year when Mr. and Mrs. Herziger entertained.

PROMISES TO SUPPORT CHILD; WINS RELEASE

Neenah—John Arit, Neenah, was released Thursday on his own recognizance by Municipal Judge Spengler after he had been taken before the court on a warrant charging failure to support a minor child. According to the complaint signed by Minnie Larson, Arit has not supported the child since Jan. 7, 1928. Arit told the court he has been in a sanatorium on account of ill health, but said he had obtained work and would begin his new job at once. The case was adjourned until Sept. 25.

BOWLING LEAGUE OPENS SCHEDULE

P. Borenz Sets Dizzy Pace With 676 Count for Three-Game Series

Menasha—Scoring a total of 676 pins in a series of three games, P. Borenz led the Handy Recreation Five to victory in two out of three games against the Koser Bakery squad in City League play Thursday evening. He topped 243 pins in the first game, 203 in the second and 227 in the third. E. Ostertag, anchor man for the same team, scored 244 in the second game and a 651 total in three games.

Frank Anderson's Cafe and the Blue Hills each scored three game victories, the former defeating Koser's Thirty Five and the latter winning over Storill's Five. The Hotel Menasha team took out of three games from the Alex Schmitzer Five and the Gilbert Paper team won two out of three from the Marathon Mills.

In the 9 o'clock shift, the R. E. Fairbach Agency took all three games from the Menasha Building and Supply squad. They took the first game by a 132 margin but had plenty of competition in the last two tilts. The Wheeler Transfer squad also scored a three-game victory by winning from the Acker Nite Hawks. The teams failed to score over 800 pins in any of the three games.

The Shell Oils took two out of three from the Clothes shop. They were defeated by a five pin margin in the first game but came back to win in the last two. The Schintz brothers Fill Rollers rolled a total of 2,599 pins to take two out of three games from the Banta publishers. They came from behind to win easily in the last two tilts after losing the first game by a score of 876 to 853.

VOCATIONAL SCHOOL AID SENT TO CITY

Menasha—Two drafts covering state and federal aid for Menasha vocational school were received Friday morning by City Treasurer C. A. Hockrodt. A draft for $5,040.30 represented the pro-rated portion of state aid granted the local board of vocational education constituting the reimbursement made by the state for the conduct of approved classes in this city.

Another draft for $670.23 is the portion of federal aid granted the local board and the city to reimburse them for certain expenditures conforming with the purposes and requirements of the Smith Hughes act. The drafts were received from George P. Hambrecht, director of the state board of vocational education.

RUBBISH FIRE PUT OUT AT WOODENWARE FIRM

Menasha—The Menasha fire department was called out shortly before 11 o'clock Friday morning when a rubbish fire on Menasha Woodware property on Lawson-st. began to threaten nearby property. The blaze was extinguished with little trouble and no damage resulted.

RECKLESS DRIVER IS FINED $25 AND COSTS

Menasha—George McHugh, Menasha, was fined $25 and costs in justice court Thursday when he was found guilty of reckless driving. John Marsh, justice of the peace, heard the case.

McHugh figured in an automobile accident on Racine-st. on Aug. 17, in which four cars were damaged. Evidence brought before the justice Thursday evening showed that McHugh caused the wreck by reckless and careless driving of his machine.

Melvin P. Crowley, city attorney, prosecuted the case.

NURSES MEET OCT. 1 AT MEMORIAL BUILDING

Menasha—Reservations have been made at the Menasha Memorial building for the regular monthly meeting of the Twin City Visiting nurses association Oct. 1, according to park authorities. A luncheon meeting is planned.

COUNCIL WILL INSPECT BROAD-ST SIDEWALK

Menasha—The Menasha city council, the finance committee and the city attorney, meeting as a committee of the whole, will visit the lower end of Broadway Friday evening where sidewalks, alleged to be defective, and blamed for an accident to Miss Gladys Steward, will be inspected.

The Stewart child was injured several months ago when her roller skate caught in a crack in the surface of the walk, causing a bad fall. Injuries sustained in the fall have given rise to an $84 damage claim against the city.

PARK BOARD TO DRAW UP BUDGET FOR 1931

Menasha—The park board for 1931 will be drawn up at a meeting of the park board next week. The budget must be turned over to officials at the city office before Oct. 15.

Plans for the beautification of Nicolet-blvd by employees of the Menasha and Neenah park boards also will be considered at next week's meeting. Preliminary work on the boulevard will probably be started this fall.

EXPECT SHIPMENT OF MORE JUVENILE BOOKS

Menasha—A large shipment of juvenile books, conforming to Wisconsin reading circle specifications, is expected at the Menasha public library within a few days. The shipment will be catalogued and prepared for immediate circulation.

Circulation at the library has been unusually slow during the past few weeks, falling about 100 volumes behind the corresponding period of last year, according to library authorities. Warm weather and intense activity due to the opening of school are blamed for the loss.

LEGION DRUM CORPS TO PRACTICE TONIGHT

Menasha—The Menasha Eagle Legion drum corps will practice in Eagles hall Friday evening. With the advent of colder weather, a schedule of weekly practices on Sunday mornings will be inaugurated.

GERMANIAS TO FORM NEW BOWLING LEAGUE

Menasha—The Germania Benevolent society's bowling league will be organized at a special meeting in Menasha auditorium Friday evening. Teams will be formed and plans for the season's activities made.

MENASHA PERSONALS

Menasha—Mayor N. G. Rimmel, City Clerk John Jedwabny, and John Sengenbrenner, commissioner of the poor, were in Fremont Friday on city business.

Fred Page, Jr. of Cleveland, Ohio, is visiting relatives in Menasha.

BICYCLE IS STOLEN, POLICE ARE INFORMED

Menasha—That a bicycle has been stolen from Clarence Bronzinski, 344 Second-st., was the complaint received at the Menasha police station Thursday afternoon. A complete description has been given to police officials.

LAY CORNERSTONE FOR COURTHOUSE BUILDING

Milwaukee—(P)—Milwaukee-co supervisors and city officials joined yesterday in ceremonies to lay the cornerstone of the county's new $10,000,000 courthouse here.

Among speakers were Circuit Judge John C. Kleczka, Mayor Daniel Hoan and William E. McCarty, chairman of the board of supervisors. Nearly 5,000 persons attended.

Milwaukee—(P)—Milwaukee police squad cars will be equipped with radio soon, police officials said today. Eighteen cars will cruise the city at all hours.

coalition had announced that he must relinquish leadership of the northern government set up in the nationalist government in Nanking.

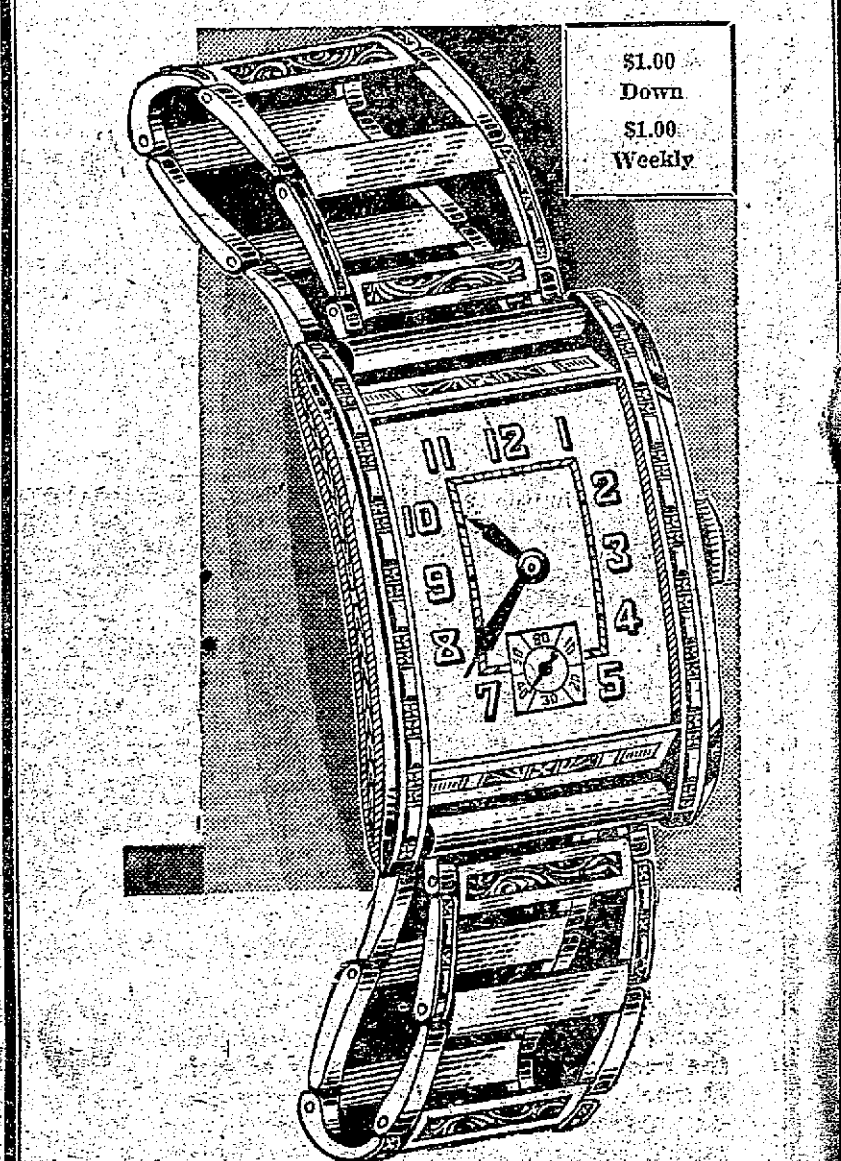

If Yen should retire from the struggle against Nanking and return to his stronghold in the province of Shansi, the back of the northern movement would appear to be broken. The northerners, during the first days of their revolt, scored numerous victories and for a time it appeared that Chiang Kai-Shek, head of the southern government, would go into eclipse. Chiang, however, rallied his forces and in late weeks has scored decisively against his opponents.

REPORT PEACE CALL Peiping, China—(P)—Chinese newspapers today featured a peace appeal calling for the immediate cessation of hostilities in northern China, issued by Chang Hsueh-Liang, youthful governor of Manchuria, at the conclusion of a conference of provincial leaders at Mukden.

They also published an interview with Chang, quoting him as saying: "I do not wish to see China again split into two rival governments. If the present government is unsatisfactory, it can be improved—there is no need to fight it out. It is my personal hope that Yen Hsi-Shan, Feng Yu-Hsiang and Chiang Kai-Shek get together and reach an agreement. The nation and people cannot afford to see war continue any longer. Civil war has made the life of the people unbearable and I am forced to intervene, though I will not resort to force."

Philadelphia Cinches American League Pennant

DEFEAT WHITE SOX WHILE CLEVELAND DOWNS SENATORS

Grimes and Bottomley Help Keep Cardinals on Top of N. L.

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

ONE more Connie Mack, the tall tactician of Philadelphia, has led the Athletics to the point where they have nothing to do but look forward to a new world series in which to conquer—or to be conquered, and from current indications in the race for the National league flag, it appears that the St. Louis Cardinals will be their rivals in the struggle for the world's championship.

The Athletics made a formal settlement of the American league pennant race yesterday, clinching the title beyond the last snafew of doubt by downing the Chicago White Sox, 14 to 10, for their ninety-ninth victory of the season while Cleveland ended Washington's chances with a 3 to 2 triumph over the Senators. At the same time, the Cards were drawing farther ahead of their rivals in the senior circuit, defeating Brooklyn for the third straight time, 4 to 3, to gain a two game margin over the Robins.

CARDS MEET PHILS

A third stirring triumph in as many games, placed the Cardinals in a fairly safe position as they left to start a five game series in Philadelphia. Brooklyn and Chicago, their only remaining rivals of importance, have three more games in the lost column and little hope that the Phils and Pittsburgh will upset the Cards. The New York Giants are out of the race for all practical purposes, being 5 games behind yesterday's 6 to 2 triumph over Chicago.

Where Andy High shone before, Burleigh Grimes and Jim Bottomley shared the Cardinal hero roles yesterday. Grimes' spitball rendered most of Brooklyn's hitting ineffective while Bottomley's fourth inning homer helped the cards make the most of their five hits off Phelps and Thurston. Fred Fitzsimmons of the Giants did the major part of the work in holding the Cubs in third place by allowing them six scattered hits the Giants walloped Bush and Nelson for eleven blows.

AS EXPECTED FLAG

The clinching of the American league pennant by the Athletics was attended by comparatively little excitement. Since their great spurt early in August when they took a ten game lead, it had been almost a certainty that the Athletics finally would win despite the strenuous and futile efforts of the Senators. The end came in an unimpressive fashion in an up-and-down scoring match with two five run rallies and a 20 hit attack to produce a Philadelphia victory. Cleveland gave the A's considerable aid as the Indians backed Wesley Ferrell with some timely hitting to give him his twenty-fifth victory of the season in a close duel with Sad Sam Jones.

The lesser teams of the two leagues, battling for nothing in particular provided some startling innovations and three close games to complete the day's schedule. Mark Koenig, Detroit's shortstop, made an appearance on the pitcher's mound against Boston, and although the Tigers lost 4 to 3, the blame could not be laid at his door. The Red Sox had completed their scoring against Bridges in the earlier innings.

Charley Ruffing, New York Yankee hurler, proved more successful as a batter than on the mound. He did not get credit for the Yank's 7 to 6 ten inning victory over the St. Louis Browns although he contributed two home runs toward it. Chuck Klein, youthful slugger of the Phils also hit two homers, but they were not enough to beat Pittsburgh's Pirates, who slammed out five runs in the fourth inning for a 6 to 5 victory. The Boston Braves and Cincinnati were not scheduled.

CONNIE MACK HIS 50 YEARS IN BASEBALL

BY ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor)

HE STARTS OUT AS "SLATS" R. and Mrs. Michael McGillicuddy christened him Cornelius. That was in the little shoe town of East Brookfield, Mass., on December 23, 1882.

The boys in the factory and on the sandlot diamond nearby, where the lunch hour consisted of 10 minutes for lunch and 50 minutes for baseball, called him "Slats." That was around 1880.

For a half century and over he has been identified with America's national game as Connie Mack, smart as a player, famous as a manager, strategist and maker of world's championship teams, beloved on and off the field as a leader and counselor.

The career of this lean and upright, soft-spoken and Irish blue-eyed man parallels the history of baseball, throbs with its ups and downs, sparkles with its triumphs. In his keen glance, firm handshake and spontaneous enthusiasm in 1920 there is the flash of spirit that you know was manifest by "Slats" McGillicuddy in 1880.

"Baseball always has been a great game to me," he remarks. "I played it because it was the thing I liked to do best as a boy. It seemed too good to be true when I discovered they were willing to pay me for it and offer me steady work. I was very fortunate."

And so baseball became the life-work of the slim young Irishman, to whom as he neared three score and ten years it was still "a great game" and the thing he "liked to do best."

STARRED IN 1896

When Connie Mack broke into the big leagues in 1896, with the Washington club of the National League, Adrian C. (Pop) Anson was in his prime, the slugger of sluggers and the Babe Ruth of his day.

Seven balls entitled a batsman to first base then and it was legal for the bat to be flat on one side. The Baltimore Orioles, greatest of old-time teams, ruled the roost when Mack had his first engagement as a major league manager with Pittsburgh in mid-season of 1894.

Hans Wagner was then only a boy

The Old Master

CONNIE MACK.

playing on the sandlots. Hugh Duffy of the Boston was batting king with the record major league percentage of .458.

John McGraw, later Mack's great world series rival, was just taking over the helm of the Giants when Connie won his first American League championship in 1902 with the Philadelphia Athletics, the club with which the "rail tute" became permanently identified in the formation of the second major circuit.

Mack led another championship club into the first official world's series in 1905, the year that Ty Cobb broke into the big leagues with Detroit.

Twenty-three years later Cobb played his last major league season under the leadership of Mack, who had stamped the Georgian with his unqualified choice as the greatest all-around player the game has ever known.

Babe Ruth bounded into the big show as a southpaw pitcher in 1914, when Mack was leading his fifth championship machine. That was the team that brought him his greatest fame as well as his worst world's series defeat; the combination with the $100,000 infield that he startled the baseball world by wrecking in 1915.

The old master has known the depths as well as the sunlit heights. He has heard the raucous cry for his scalp from the bleachers, as well as the frenzied cheers. He has seen his club finish last over a stretch of seven straight years of post-war depression and struggle. He has known the glory that goes with eight pennant-winning clubs, four of them over a span of five years and the thrill of world's championship triumph with his 1929 team after a lapse of sixteen years.

In 1915 Mack asked waivers on three of the greatest pitchers of all time—Chief Bender, Eddie Plank and Jack Coombs, mainstays of the four-time champions. Fifteen years later he enjoyed the satisfaction of having developed another trio almost as brilliant in Bob Grove, Rube Walberg and George Barnshaw, Aces of the championship clubs of 1929-1930.

Connie Mack was a great manager, manipulating his men and the plays with his famous score-card, in the days when the squeeze play was in vogue and a home run was a sensation.

He was still a great pilot when the post-war slugging era dawned and altered the game's course, with Babe Ruth rising in mastodonlike vehemence to demand an $80,000 salary by the sheer power of his ability to propel the livelier ball farther than anyone else in history.

Looking backward after he had regained the peak in 1929, Mack confessed to me that he had "underestimated the rapidity with which the game would come back after the war."

"I'll have to admit I was two or three years late in catching up with the parade again," he said. "I figured we were due to win again as early as 1925, but the pace was fast and then there was Ruth and that wonderful team the late Miller Huggins rebuilt. At their best they were unbeatable."

MINNESOTA BACKS WILL BE FAST BUT NOT VERY HEAVY

Nello Pacetti, Halfback at Wisconsin, Suffers Broken Collar Bone

CHICAGO (AP)—Bone crushing power may not be one of the features of the Minnesota backfield this season, but there should be no lack of speed.

Passing up heavier, more ponderous backfield candidates, Coach Fritz Crisler has devoted much time to working with a ball-carrying force composed of captain Brockmeyer, Riebeth and Schwartz at the halves, and Leksell at Full. There have been bigger Gopher backfields, but few with more speed afoot and Crisler is working on the latter ability.

Sessions were almost uniformly vigorous yesterday, only Chicago failing to have scrimmage. Coach Noble Kizer turned loose his first Purdue varsity selection against reserves and was pleased with the activities of his backfield.

Northwestern inaugurated the secret practice season, working two shifts behind closed gates. Scrimmage and drills for kickers were on the program, which Coach Hanley said would be repeated today. Ohio State also had a ball-carrying bee.

Coach Glen Thistlewaite of Wisconsin, had his plans upset when it was learned that Nello Pacetti, regular blocking halfback last season, had suffered a fractured collar bone Wednesday. Dummy scrimmage was the Badgers' task for the day, with emphasis on wingbacks. The same maneuvers were worked out at Michigan.

A scrimmage in which fullbacks were used almost exclusively at line cracking attempts, was handed out by Bob Zupke at Illinois.

Raise Championship Flag At Packer Game Sunday

PACKER football fans who usually arrive at the City stadium about 3 p. m. are urged to be on hand 20 minutes before that time Sunday if they want to see the 1929 national championship pennant raised.

Rather than set back the starting hour of the game, the Green Bay Football corporation directors decided to raise the flag to the breeze in a brief ceremony promptly at 1:45.

Joe F. Carr, president of the National football league, Mayor John V. Diener, L. H. Joannes, president of the Green Bay Football corporation, players from both the Packer and Cardinal elevens, a detail of soldiers and sailors, serving as color guards

KOZELUH REMAINS IN PRO NET MEET

Bohemian Is Matched in Semi Finals Today With Howard O. Kinsey

Forest Hills, N. Y. (AP)—Alone of the foreign entrants, Karel Kozeluh, of Czechoslovakia, remained today to dispute the American professional lawn tennis championship against the assaults of three home-breds.

Kozeluh was matched in the semi-finals today with Howard O. Kinsey of San Francisco while Vincent Richards of New York was pitted against Harvey Snodgrass of Beverly Hills, Calif. Kozeluh and Richards were heavy favorites to reach the final round.

Kozeluh and Richards both won in straight sets in the quarter finals, the Czechoslovakian defeating Paul L. Heston of Washington 6-3, 6-2, 6-4 while Richards put out Norval Craig, Los Angeles 6-1, 6-4, 6-3.

Kinsey upset Dan Maskell of England, 3-5, 5-7, 6-2, 1-5, 6-1, and Snodgrass Roman Majuch of Germany, 4-6, 6-0, 6-4, 6-3.

and the Green Bay Legion band will take part in the ceremonies. It was originally planned to have the Chicago Bears' squad participate as it was figured that they would be here to watch the Packers after playing in Oshkosh Saturday. However, the Chicago Bears called off the Oshkosh game and instead, will play Brooklyn of the National league at Cub's park.

The program as mapped out, calls for a parade down the gridiron to the south end of the field where the flag staff towers high in the air. While movie cameras are clicking, President Carr will present the pennant to L. H. Joannes, who in turn will hand the bunting to Dr. W. W. Kelly, who served as president of the Football corporation in 1929. Then there will be a few words of congratulation and appreciation exchanged by the officials. Following this while the Star Spangled Banner is being played, the color guard will lift the American flag to the top of the flag pole and then while "On Wisconsin" reaches through the park, Dr. Kelly will pull the ropes raising the championship banner, which bears the insignia—"National Champions, 1929."

All indications point to a large crowd at the flag raising game as a brisk advance ticket sale is reported. According to E. A. Spachman, who directs the ticket distribution, this year's demand for seats at the Cardinal games is one of the heaviest on record.

Mail orders are being filled promptly and in consideration of the last minute purchases the central ticket office at the Columbus club will be open Sunday morning from 9 a. m. until noon.

ARRIVE SATURDAY NIGHT

Chicago—The Chicago Cardinals' football squad of 30 players, headed by Ernie Meyer and Dr. E. H. Jones, owner, will leave here early Saturday for Green Bay, Wis., where they are scheduled to play the Packers, national champions in the opening game of the National league season.

Last Sunday, the Cardinals won 30-0 game from the Sturgis, Mich., club. While in Green Bay, the Cardinals' squad will headquarter at the Northland Hotel.

New York—Jack (Kid) Berg, England, outpointed Joe Glick, Williamsburg, (10); Koli Kola, Porto Rico, stopped Terry Roth, New York,

VIKINGS TO HOLD FIRST SCRIMMAGE SESSION SATURDAY

Week's Practice Has Been Spent Entirely on Fundamental Drills

Lawrence college football team will hold its first scrimmage Saturday, Coach Eddie Kotal said Thursday evening but the rough and tumble sessions will be limited because of danger from injuries. Kotal has so few reserves he can't very well take a chance on having even a couple of his proteges hurt and unable to compete in regular games.

The Vikings also will get a taste of scrimmage Saturday so that the bruises and bumps will wear off over Sunday and the men will be ready for come what may on Monday. The Vikes play their first game of the 1930 season a week from Saturday, Marquette at Milwaukee.

For the last two years it has been a watchword around Lawrence that Coach Clarence H. Rasmussen was a stickler for fundamentals. Perhaps that is where Kotal got his idea as assistant coach got his idea of the need for rudiments of the game.

Anyways, the Vikes have been practicing blocking, tackling, and use of devices most of every evening's drill and it was not until Thursday afternoon that the boys started sign practice.

The plays to be used by the Vikings against Marquette and also against Wisconsin will be of the shop variety. Kotal hasn't time to teach all the plays and until his backs come seasoned he doesn't want them to know too much.

Three teams were sent through the paces Thursday night, a sort of first and second team, and a group of left overs on the third. A team from a few of the veterans none the men has clinched places on the first eleven and the result is noticeable in the manner in which the men work.

New York—Jack (Kid) Berg, England, outpointed Joe Glick, Williamsburg, (10); Koli Kola, Porto Rico, stopped Terry Roth, New York,

CONNIE MACK MUST HAVE SLEEP EVEN IF TEAM WINS FLAG

Chicago (AP)—Connie Mack apparently does not permit the winning of baseball championship ships to interfere with his regular habits.

After his Athletics formally won their second straight American league pennant yesterday, the 68-year-old leader ate dinner early and retired before 9:30 o'clock, leaving orders at his hotel that he did not wish to be disturbed for any reason.

MILWAUKEE BEATS SAINTS; COLONELS DEFEAT INDIANS

Minneapolis Gets 16 Hits but Kansas City Wins 10 and 8

CHICAGO—(P)—All except one corner of the 1930 American Association pennant was in Louisville's bag today, as the Colonels led St. Paul by three full games, with only four to play. St. Paul's chance of catching the surprising Kentuckians went down for the second time yesterday as Milwaukee rallied in the ninth to defeat the Saints, 9 to 7, while a homer by Mel Simon gave Louisville a final inning triumph over Indianapolis, 4 to 3.

A similar pair of results today would give Louisville its first title since 1926 when Bill Meyer came in with the remainder of Joe McCarthy's 1925 champions. Should both win today and tomorrow, the Colonels still would win, the Saints only by hope as that Louisville would blow up completely, while they re gained a winning way.

Milwaukee went into the ninth in a run behind St. Paul, but Cuckoo Christensen's fourth single of the game drove in a pair of mates which sunk the Saints, 9 to 7. Wiley Moore was batted from the box in six innings and Vernon Gomez replaced him in time to fall victim of the Brewers' winning effort.

Minneapolis turned loose a 16-hit attack on two Kansas City hurlers, but wasted too many blows and the Blues won, 10 to 8.

Columbus and Toledo were not scheduled.

MRS. MOODY BACK ON TENNIS COURTS

Many of Country's Ranking Net Stars Showing in Coast Matches

Los Angeles—(P)—Helen Willis Moody, former national women's singles champion, headed several of the country's ranking net stars who meet in exhibition matches at the annual Pacific Southwest tennis tournament opening today.

Mrs. Moody, who recently declined to make the long trip east to defend her title, will not enter championship play, confining her tournament participation to exhibition games. Her first appearance will be tomorrow.

Today's exhibition program brought George Lott Jr., of Chicago and J. Gilbert Hall, East Orange, N. J. to meet Sidney Wood of Pasadena and New York, and Ellsworth Vines, Jr., Pasadena. Hon. Lyttleton Rogers, Irish champion and member of the Ireland Davis cup team, meets Gregory Mangin, Georgetown university.

Mixed doubles play will be featured by Mrs. L. A. Harper of Oakland and Lott, playing Miss Maryorie Morrill, Dedham, Mass. and Johnny Van Ryn, East Orange, N. J. Davis cup players.

In another mixed doubles exhibition, Miss Dorothy Weisel, Sacramento, and Gerald Straiford, San Francisco, play Miss Ethel Burkhardt, San Francisco, and Keith Giedhull, Santa Barbara.

ST. LOUIS OPEN ATTRACTS GOLFERS

Horton Smith and Walter Hagen Are Among Leading Contenders

St. Louis—(P)—The $10,000 St. Louis open golf championship, which has attracted approximately 175 crack golfers from all parts of the country, as well as about 75 amateurs and professionals from the St. Louis district, got under way today on the Sunset Hill course.

Starting at the inconvenient hour of 7:30 A. M., a threesome was to leave the first tee every five minutes until 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon, and the same groupings will start off in the same order tomorrow, with the low 64 players and those tied at 64 in the 36-hole final Sunday.

Most of the outstanding players entered made their initial appearance on the Sunset Hill links yesterday. The aces of the troupe, Horton Smith and Walter Hagen arrived in the morning, Hagen spending most of the day on the course, while Smith took a practice round and finished in time for a baseball game.

THIRTY-FIVE FROSH REPORT AT LAWRENCE

A squad of about 35 freshmen at Lawrence college have answered the call for frosh gridgers and are working out daily under direction of Coach Einar Jansen. While the youngsters have appeared in numbers there are few of them that boast any great speed.

The men all are young and while they are tall enough, have not yet developed into big one day players to take the places of the many veterans who graduate next June. Weights at the present time are low to 160 lbs. being up work and a few of the freshmen probably will get their first dose of hard-work Saturday when they scrimmage the varsity.

JOHNSTON HOPES JONES WILL WIN

Defending Amateur Champion Thinks Another Victory Would Be Great

Philadelphia—(P)—Harrison R. Johnston is ready to battle to the last hole in defense of his United States amateur golf championship in the tournament at the Merion Cricket club next week. But he said he could not but think it would be a glorious performance for Bobby Jones if Jones should put over the grand slam in golf by winning the amateur title.

The St. Paul star hewed in his first practice round over the championship course yesterday that he is prepared to give Jones and the other national and international stars in the field plenty of trouble. Playing in a foursome with Richard A. Jones, of New York, as his partner, Johnston went out in 38 and returned in 38 for a card of 76, one over par.

This was two strokes better than the incomparable Bobby has done in either of his two practice rounds. The Atlanta barrister, who is seeking his fourth major title this year, was not shooting so well yesterday taking 40-39—79. On Wednesday he negotiated the course in 73.

LOUGHRAN, VON PORAT MAY MEET IN MILWAUKEE

Milwaukee—(P)—All that remained today to guarantee a 10 round fight here between Otto Von Porat, Norwegian heavyweight and Tommy Loughran, former world's light heavyweight champion, was Tom my's signature.

Joe Switzer, president of the newly organized Riverside Fight Club, said Von Porat's manager yesterday agreed to the proposed fight here Oct. 13. Loughran was slated to fight Davis Maier for the club's opener but the negotiations were unsuccessful because of Maier's insistence that Loughran weigh 180 pounds, while Loughran agreed to make 152.

CARDINALS HAVE NINE GAMES LEFT IN N. L.

New York—(P)—The three leading teams in the National league race, Brooklyn has seven games to play, St. Louis nine and Chicago eight.

Brooklyn's schedule is as follows: Pittsburgh, Sept. 20-21; New York, Sept. 23; Philadelphia, Sept. 24; Boston, two games Sept. 27 and one Sept. 28.

St. Louis meets Philadelphia Sept. 19, two games Sept. 20; Sept. 22-23; Pittsburgh, Sept. 25-26-27-28.
Chicago plays Boston Sept. 19-20-21-22 and Cincinnati Sept. 25-26-27-28.

What the Stars Did Yesterday

Duplich Comes, Carandio—Stop ped Roberts with eight scattered hits in nine at 4-7.

Junior Post Athletics—Drove in five runs on the White Sox with three in the ninth.

Wally Barrett, Indians—Chopped 10 throws in the 10th inning. Sent three to strike out in the 11th.

Chuck Klein, Phillies—Outwitted the Cardinals with a home run and a double.

Phil Feltz, Braves—Easy 4-0 win over the Cubs.

DUTCHMAN GRID TEAM WORKS OUT

Little Chute Amateur Eleven to Again Compete in N. E. W. League

Little Chute—Members of Little Chute's amateur football squad, "the Flying Dutchmen" have again started work for the opening of the Northeastern Wisconsin league schedule. To Holland's boast several veterans from last year's eleven with Jack Strick as coach, Strick also is a member of the squad.

Many new men have reported and look good enough to give the veterans a race for positions. Practices are held from 6:30 to 8:30 Tuesday and Thursday nights. Practice also will be held Sunday morning.

Among the members of the squad are S. Jansen, Wildenberg and Vic Hartjes centers; H. Verboven, Tiny Jansen, R. Kratkramer, Ernie Minon, Ray Springer guards; Capt. Strick, C. Williamsen, J. Pennings, C. Wildenberg tackles; R. DeBruin, M. Scheurle, R. Scheuler, L. Weyenberg, Elzy Jansen ends; Jerry and Bob Versteegen quarterbacks; R. DeBruin, Greg Hartjes, A. Wildenberg, J. Versteegen half backs; W. Van Handel, R. Versteegen, J. Strick full backs.

The league schedules follows: Sept. 21—Open.
Sept. 28—Little Chute at Shawano
Oct. 5—Clintonville at Little Chute

APPLETON ATHLETES TO ATTEND EASTERN SCHOOL

Bobby Kunitz, Kenneth Downer, and Norbert Berg from Appleton, Shekore of Green Bay and Myron Esler of Kaukauna have gone to East Orange, N. J. where they will enroll in Seton Hall, a boys' school.

All the boys are former star high school athletes, Kunitz and Shekore being two of the fastest half backs in the valley in several years while Downer is a line man and Berg a quarterback. Esler is a former Kaukauna grid and basketball star.

Dan Steinberg, Jr. will assist Smith in football and coach basketball.

SET DATES FOR VIKI MARQUETTE CAGE GAMES

Two dates on the Lawrence college basketball schedule already have been completed. Announcement from Marquette college indicates the Vike and M. U. fires will clash at Appleton on Jan. 31, 1931 and at Milwaukee on Feb. 16.

Oct. 12—Open.
Oct. 19—Little Chute at New London.
Oct. 26—Menominee at Little Chute.
Nov. 2—Little Chute at Rhinelander.

MOVIE-TALKIES GET PICTURES OF MACKS

Chicago—(P)—The movie-talkies have finally caught up with the Philadelphia Athletics and recorded in celluloid and sound the game by which the Mackmen clinched the 1930 American league pennant.

The moviemen began photographing ball games two days ago so they would have one showing how the pennant was won, but the Athletics waited until yesterday before finally making good.

FINISH PLANS FOR OPENING OF NIGHT CLASSES FOR ADULTS

Registration to Take Place
Next Monday, Tuesday
Wednesday Nights

Plans have been completed for the opening of evening classes at Appleton vocational school next week, according to Herb Hellig, director. Registration will take place between the hours of 7 and 9 o'clock on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings.

There will be two courses dealing with electricity this year. One is for a study and interpretation of the new state and local electrical codes and will be handled by L. E. Luebke, city electrical inspector. The other is to be a study of advanced practical electricity, taught by Clyde Cavert, head of the electrical department of the vocational school.

There will be one class in general wood working which will be open to the public. There will be no special entrance requirements set up for this class. James Chadek, director, working instructor, will be in charge of classes. A class in the use of the steel square will be offered to carpenters, construction men, masons and others who make frequent use of it. This will be a short unit of 10 lessons.

OFFER DRAFTING AGAIN
Blue print reading, shop sketching and drafting will be offered again, but the organization of classes and instruction will depend on the number enrolled and the room and equipment available.

There will be classes in machine shop and probably special advanced work will be offered regularly employed and experienced machinists. W. Ray Cahloner, instructor at the trade school will handle the class. Other classes to be held include arithmetic, shop mathematics, slide rule and advanced mathematics, and a special course for tradesmen. One special class in mathematics has been in session for the past two weeks.

Classes in foremanship, pulp and paper, first aid, safety school, sheet metal, plant maintenance, plumbing, yielding for steamfitters, training in leading conferences, lighting clinic, and milk route men have been organized and enrollment in them can be made at any time. General subjects to be offered will include English for the foreign born, citizenship, arithmetic, algebra, public speaking, review of English grammar, and French.

Your Birthday

WHAT TOMORROW MEANS TO YOU
"VIRGO"

If September 20th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10:30 a. m. to noon, from 4 p. m. to 5 p. m. and from 9 p. m. to 10 p. m. The danger periods are from 6:30 a. m. to 8 a. m. and from 2:30 p. m. to 3:30 p. m.

Your character will be tested upon this date, and the precept that kind hearts mean more than coronets, will be proven to you by friends. Very unusual psychic influences. Your heart will be disturbed, but your material interests will go smoothly and well.

Children born on this September 20th will be given active natures, mental excitability and emotionalism. They will have a desire to excel, and their personalities will tend to over-ride restraint. They will be generous, ardent and enthusiastic—willful and sometimes rebellious.

You are not a follower of the gospel of despair. Your desires are dampened by inhibitory impulses and warnings. You see possibilities, when others can only see a mass of difficulties. Your positive attitude, your self-confidence, and your courage win your battles for you. You are not an "I can't er." You are gifted with the energy to see things through, and the world appreciates your stability and steadfast purpose.

You lead an unselfish life, and you champion those suffering from injustice and help and sympathize with those in sorrow. You are a genius for discovering hidden charms in people—an extra-

WOMAN, 86, PLAYS FOOTBALL; SUFFERS BROKEN HIP BONE

Prattville, Ala.—(P)—Mrs. Ella Herbert, 86, in a hospital here with a broken hip, admits that the playing of football is a bit too rough for one of her years.

Yesterday a group of children were playing in her yard. They decided to play football but needed one more to complete the team. "Please fill in for us," they pleaded, grouping around her. Certainly she would. Anything to please the children.

She lasted until the third quarter. Then a play was run and Mrs. Herbert went down in the scramble for the ball. The hip bone snapped and she didn't get up.

ordinary interest in the dull woman, or a vein of tenderness in the horrid man. You look beneath ugly exteriors for the spirit beneath, and you see what can be made of common things. You do not treat people casually.

You have good judgment and a good memory, and a good business head. You like unravelling problems—the more knots the better. You are never impatient, as long as there is a spark of hope, and many of your successes come after long tedious periods of waiting, watching, hoping and working. Your appreciation of the beautiful in nature is very intense, and you are quick to observe her tiniest efforts—in a garden, a field or a window. You have sacred ideas about home and marriage, and you will fight to maintain your ideas.

Wisconsin Girl's Lucky Day

THREE candles! And each one represents a year of joyous living. Carolyn Babush, of 800 Downer Ave., Milwaukee, is a typical Fig Syrup baby. Here is what her mother says:

"My mother used California Fig Syrup with me, and when Carolyn became constipated we got some for her. It relieved her constipation immediately, sweetened her breath, made her bright and happy again."

"I have also used Fig Syrup for all her colds and upsets. It has kept her strong and vigorous."

For fifty years, wise mothers have been secure in the knowledge that a child's headachy, bilious, feverish or fretful spells can be quickly and safely overcome by California Fig Syrup. Physicians recommend its soothing aid to keep the bowels clear in colds, or children's ailments; or whenever bad breath, coated tongue, or listlessness warn of constipation.

California Fig Syrup helps tone and strengthen weak bowels—assists in building-up and energizing weak children. The genuine always bears the name California. All drugstores.

SCHLASK NOMINATED IN "JUNGLES" RACE

Fond du Lac —(P)—Fred W. Schlask, twice sheriff, who campaigned against three others for nomination with the slogan "bigger and better jungles," won the Republican nomination for sheriff, defeating the incumbent, whom he had served as undersheriff. The "jungle" slogan referred to his desire for bigger and better spaces along the railroad yards for bums, to keep them from the finer parts of towns.

IRISH FILM CENSOR BETWEEN TWO FIRES

Movies Must Be Censored, but Part Time Officer Is Overworked

Dublin —(P)—The film exhibitors of the Free State are dissatisfied with the working of the state censorship. So are many moral reformers.

It is a criminal offence in the Free State to exhibit a film that has not been passed by the censor. There is only one censor, and he is not a full time officer.

Talkies can not be rushed through as rapidly as were the silent films, and the consequent delay in getting the censor's decision is held prejudicial to the trade.

HIGH SCHOOL GRID TEAM OPENS SEASON AGAINST SHAWANO

Majority of Home Games Will Be Played on Friday Afternoons

New London — New London's foot ball team was to open its season here today with Shawano high school. Most of the high school games will be played Friday afternoon, since it is thought that more business men will be able to attend. Next week, West DePere, followed next week by a game here with Neenah. Menasha will be met on its own grounds in the first night game. Coach Stacey and his squad, however, will use Menasha's field for practice to accustom themselves to play under artificial light. Marion, Clintonville and East DePere complete the local schedule for the year.

Stacey has been getting a lot of work out of his first and second squads, the team giving the regulars some good stiff workouts during scrimmages. This is Stacey's first year at coaching here, and the former Carroll star should put a good team into the field. Graduation did not seriously cripple the team, as regulars of last year include Drown, Pfeiffer, Schimke, Ladwig, Dernbach, Soffa, Westphal, and Learman. Weldenbeck and Dayton are back with the team after a year's absence.

CITY GRIDERS READY FOR MENASHA BATTLE

New London — The city foot ball squad is all set to hand Menasha a good beating Sunday afternoon on the local field. The game will be the second of the season. New London, buoyed by its victory in the practice game last week has improved during the past week and will put forth its best efforts in the last practice game of the season. Clintonville will be here the following Sunday, and both teams will be out for blood. Last year Clintonville won the regular league game the two seasons. Clintonville will be here the following Sunday, and both teams will be out for blood. Last year Clintonville won the regular league game at Clintonville, New London lost out by a lone touchdown. At the end of the season Clintonville was defeated here 7-0 score.

Rhineland's team will play here, as will Van Handel's boys of Little Chute.

NEW LONDON STUDENTS RETURN TO COLLEGES

New London — Among the local young people who have left to attend the University of Wisconsin are Herman Schmalenberg, who enters his third year, Miss Esther Gehlke, Francis O'Connell, and Leif McNickols. Gerald Haase will attend Marquette university, Hadrian Manske is attending the Stevens Point teachers' college. Marvin Edminister, Catherine Egan, Sylvia Shaw, Elida Tesch, Robert Dayton, and Harry Clegg are among those attending the Oshkosh Teachers training college.

Marvin Morack, who spent the past two weeks at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Morack, has returned to Schenectady, N. Y. Mr. and Mrs. Morack also had as their guests Miss Florence Jenkins of Hampton, Va., and Miss Alice Russell of Maine.

HIGH SCHOOL CLASSES ELECT NEW OFFICERS

(Special to Post-Crescent)

Hortonville — Classes at the local high school have elected officers for the coming year as follows: Freshmen, president, William Sommers; vice president, William Kluge; secretary, treasurer, George Buchner; advisor, Miss Irma Rieckert.

LIGHT FROST HITS WAUPACA POTATOES

Hopes for Late Rains to Help Crops Doomed by Cold Snap Wednesday

(Special to Post-Crescent)

Royalton — The potato crop in Waupaca county, doomed to failure for some time because of drought, met its Waterloo Wednesday when a frost visited the county. Some farmers report their crop so poor that they will only dig enough for their own use and leave the remainder of their fields unharvested, as the light production would not pay the cost of labor to harvest.

"There is never a loss without some small gain," rings out in the case of poor crops this fall, for despite the heavy loss to the farmer, he can get a sort of a grim satisfaction at stilling the voice of the non-producing critic who cried so insistently "over production."

KAUKAUNA GRID SQUAD TO PLAY AT CLINTONVILLE

Four Wheel Drive Eleven Drills Hard for Coming Game on Sunday

(Special to Post-Crescent)

Clintonville — Although not a conference game there will be an opener here next Sunday when the powerful Kaukauna football team will play the Four Wheel Drive team. This promises to be a hard contest, in that the Kaukauna squad is a fast bunch of well-seasoned old timers.

Coach Fredenberg is not optimistic about the outcome. "While individually his men show flashes of great form what they will do in team formation is a conjecture. If hard consistent drill with its attendant increasing complications can bring results, the FWD squad is getting that; but, says Fredenberg, it takes more than individual prowess to win football games."

New London last Sunday, in a non-conference game with Fond du Lac defeated the "Lake enders," a hard, fast bunch, by a 6 to 0 score; while Rhinelanders in a joust with Tomahawk ended up with a scoreless tie.

It is probable that in Sunday's game many of the new men whose possibilities are still an unknown quantity, will be given the opportunity to show their stuff. When asked about the probable lineup Coach Fredenberg stated that he did not know at this time whom he would send in.

These are the present FWD squad: Capt. G. E. McCauley, N. Kilmer, Z. Flowers, A. Dahm, F. Josiwak, L. Olen, I. Burdick, F. Sinkiewicz, J. Swoboda, A. Tellock, F. Brown, A. O'Connor, Bud O'Connor, C. Dunker, W. Elmdorf, W. Kruse, C. Redman, G. Garner, E. Schnorr, A. Becker, L. Pinkowsky, R. Phillips, L. Fredenberg, E. Loeb, R. Bassel, Mickey McDonough, Billy Merrill, H. Danner, R. Guernsey, C. Ludvigsen and L. Soyeh.

Mrs. Bernard Knapp was elected president of the American Legion auxiliary at a meeting Wednesday evening at the armory. Other officers elected were Mrs. F. C. Walsh, first vice president; Mrs. S. A. LaViolette, second vice president; Mrs. Howard Anties, treasurer. The remaining offices will be filled by appointment. Mrs. S. J. Tilleson and Mrs. R. E. Knister were appointed to arrange for the installation of officers, which will be held jointly with the American Legion.

A regular meeting of the Rebekah lodge was held Tuesday evening at the Rebekah hall. The business meeting was followed by a program of entertainment and refreshments were served by a committee of Miss Jennie Swanson, Mrs. A. W. Parfitt and Mrs. Ralph Parfitt. A large number of members from here are planning to attend the district convention to be held at Manawa on Oct. 27.

Plans for the county Royal Neighbor convention to be held in Clintonville Oct. 29, were discussed at the regular meeting of Royal Neighbors on Wednesday evening. Various committees have been appointed to take charge. A special invitation has been extended to several lodges not in Waupaca-co which are Shawano, Shiocton and Bear Creek.

Mr. and Mrs. Matt Dahm, Jr., returned from their honeymoon Wednesday evening and will reside at 69 Bricks.

Mrs. J. B. Clemmons entertained a group of friends at her home Wednesday afternoon. The time was spent socially and a luncheon was served.

Members of the Eastern Star are planning to give a public card party at the Masonic hall Tuesday evening, Sept. 30. The committee on arrangements is Mesdames William Schumacher, Irving Auld, Delmar Peterson and D. J. Rohrer. The refreshment committee will consist of Mesdames C. E. Gibson, M. Stein, M. B. Larson, J. MacDonald, J. Smiley and E. Lendved.

Miss Charlotte Stein returned to her studies at the Marquette university in Milwaukee which began this week, after spending the summer with her parents.

Mrs. Ed Thies returned to her home here Thursday from St. Elizabeth hospital at Appleton where she has been a patient for the past two weeks, following an operation.

KAUKAUNA ELEVEN MEETS SEYMOUR IN OPENING BATTLE

Heavy Line and Fast Backfield Encourages Coach Little

Kaukauna—Placing his hopes on a squad of husky veteran players, Coach Paul E. Little will open the football season by sending his Kaukauna high school team to Seymour Saturday to meet Seymour high school. The team has a heavy line and a light fast backfield. A number of veteran players have been shifted to different positions this year.

The team is led by Captain Mark VanLieshout, who plays center. Coach Little has plenty of big line men and has been working them hard in scrimmages. Nelson, and Niessen, who played in the backfield and at end last year, are at guard now. Both are husky lads and are expected to strengthen up the center of the line. Arps and Nuss have also played at guard. VanLieshout and Minkbege hold down the tackles.

Working at ends are Koch, Farwell, J. VanLieshout and L. Luedtke. They are all lanky and fast and Coach Little hopes to build a dangerous passing offense with them. Schwinderman and Toms are being used at quarterback. Schwinderman was a half back last year and he handles his position well.

Showing up with the newcomers on the squad is Kuchelmeister. He comes from Holy Cross grade school, where he made quite a record as a halfback on the school team. He is speedy and has a knack for broken field running. McCormick is playing his old position at full back. Noss, Schuler and Kemp also playing in the backfield.

LEGION GRIDDERS TO PLAY CLINTONVILLE

Kaukauna—Persons intending to attend the Kaukauna Legion football game at Clintonville Sunday who have room for one or more players are requested to notify Manager W. PARIS RETURNS TO PINK LINGERIE

Other Pastel Shades Still Remain in Evidence, However

BY AILEEN LAMONT

Copyright, 1930, by Cons. Press New York—Paris seems to have returned to pink lingerie, even though lingerie in other pastel shades as well as pajamas in black chiffon remain in evidence. One Parisian camiknicker is in dawn pink georgette, crisscrossed with wide bands of real lace. The neckline, armholes, and shoulder straps are also of the lace, which as a matter of fact makes up about two-thirds of the garment.

The prize goes to London for thinking up the most remarkable collar on record. The collar belongs to a waist-length jacket of rose velvet, meant to be worn over a semi-formal dinner frock. It is a tiny stand-up collar which fastens at the front of the neck, the unusual feature being that though the collar is open all the way down the front and leaves the collar all alone, like a necklace.

Among other jewels for which this autumn will be remembered is its crystals. Carved ones, usually, and as piteous as pearls were yesterday. Sometimes the crystals are in plain, glittering white, but also they are in such colors as sapphire, topaz, amethyst, and emerald.

Former Russ General In China To Become A Monk

Peiping, China.—(AP)—General V. I. Karpoff, one-time commander of the Chinese military forces at Tientsin under the late Marshal Chang Tso-Lin, has abandoned his military career to become a monk.

Seven years ago Karpoff was one of the leaders of the anti-Communist movement in Siberia, a staunch supporter of both Ataman Dutof and Admiral Kolchak. Before the revolution, he was the managing director of the Czar's bank of Orenburg, a position he obtained through the influence of his father-in-law, Count Volkonsky, then minister of education to the Czar.

In 1915, Karpoff left Russia with a price of half a million rubles on his head. He sought refuge in Harbin, went to work for the Chinese Eastern railway under an assumed name and later joined Marshal Chang Tso-Lin's army with the rank of colonel. A year later, he was made a general and given command of the Tientsin garrison.

Unlike the majority of his white Russian comrades in China, Karpoff prospered. He was a Russian war-lord in a Chinese city and the revenue was large. But it didn't last. When the Nationalist army took Peiping in 1928 Karpoff's fortune disappeared.

Returning to Manchuria, he obtained a position as advisor to the Japanese military forces in China which he held until the death of his wife a few months ago. Heart-broken over the loss of his mate, his health broke down and he recently journeyed to Peiping and entered the monastery of the Russian orthodox

LIFE SPAN LONGER, STATE BOARD FINDS

Madison.—(AP)—A decrease in the number of deaths in the age group of 70 to 79 years has aided in lengthening the span of life to an average of 54 years for 1929, the state board of health said today.

Statistics being compiled by the board indicate that the life span for 1929 will be greater than during the previous year. In 1920 the average age at death was about 48 years. Heart disease claimed 2,009 of the 6,595 persons between 70 and 79 years who died in 1928, according to the board. Cerebral hemorrhage was the second greatest cause, killing 931 persons. Cancer was responsible for the death of 909 persons in the age group.

A single square inch of scalp, it has been estimated, contains about seven hundred and forty-four hairs.

PROBE COMMITTEE FAILS TO SOLVE MANY MYSTERIES

Nye - McCormick Squabble
Presents Many Angles Which Remain Secret

BY OWEN L. SCOTT
Copyright, 1930, By Coss. Press
Chicago —(CFA)— This season's great detective thriller—who among politicians has been shadowing whom, and with what result?—seemed destined today to remain a mystery, now that the senate campaign investigating committee has refrained from delving into the problem of a solution.

The mystery is only heightened by the day's developments. It leaves in the air the question of who wrote the letter to the youthful Gerald N. Nye, committee chairman; who was the mysterious lady in the closet of Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick's Drake hotel suite; who rifled the files of Mrs. McCormick's farm; who is David S. Groh, who has been tapping the McCormick telephone wires; and what did the numerous detectives on the trail of Senator Nye and other committee members learn during their shadowing operations.

The assumption had been that committee detectives had been crossing the paths of McCormick detectives—shadowing the shadowers, and using Sherlock Holmes methods to get information that might further the investigation into how much money Mrs. McCormick had expended in seeking the senatorial nomination.

But to lighten the mystery, Senator Nye declared formally:

"I have devoted my best efforts to determine definitely whether any employe of this committee has been responsible for this wire tapping, espionage or other practices complained of by Mrs. McCormick and the press. No member of this committee, no person employed by this committee has done anything of this kind."

Mrs. McCormick, however, complicated matters today by a statement in which she said concerning the committee refusal to hear her witnesses:

"I agree with the chairman and two other members of the senate investigating committee that it would be inconceivable that the agents of such a committee would operate surreptitiously as wire tappers. Nevertheless, it is a fact that agents of the committee have tapped wires, and that these operations were in connection with the investigation conducted by the committee. My only conclusion is that the season the

U. S. First President Laid Cornerstone 117 Years Ago

Washington —(CP)—Half forgotten in a dark corner under the east central portico of the capitol is a bronze tablet covering the cornerstone of the monumental building laid by George Washington 137 years ago today.

Few persons see it in the course of a year and light is needed to read the inscription beginning "the south-east corner stone of the capitol of the United States of America." Many of the guides who make their living leading tourists through the vast building would have trouble in locating it.

Almost directly over the stone are the supreme court rooms, once the senate chamber where Webster and Calhoun gave their clashing views on states rights and where the calmer chairman has finally refused to hear those witnesses is that he is afraid to hear them.

That wires were tapped by someone is not doubted. Evidence in the form of pictures was submitted on Wednesday by T. B. Thompson, publisher of the Rockford Daily Republican, of which Mrs. McCormick is the principal stockholder.

As for what the W. C. Dannenberg Detective Agency, working for Mrs. McCormick, learned about Senator Nye and his colleagues, this too remains a mystery. After looking over some of the data, the senator said:

"At the time the committee originally called for the Dannenberg records it believed them to contain information of value; it does not now entertain that belief."

Unsolved likewise, is the problem of the mysterious Mr. David Groh, charged by McCormick detectives with shadowing them as shadowers, and with tapping wires.

"Much has been said of David S. Groh," explained Senator Nye. "Groh has appeared so often in connection with the shadowing of this man, and that employed by the detective agency engaged by Mrs. McCormick that I began to think him a miracle man."

Mr. Groh has never been employed by this committee, by any member of this committee, or any employe of this committee."

Intimation is being made by committee members, now that mystery has piled on mystery as a result of detective activity, that they may ask the senate to make a separate investigation of the espionage charges, when it convenes in December.

For the present no Hawkshaw has appeared to unravel the tangle of assertions and counter-assertions that has grown from the attempt to investigate the April Illinois primary.

Clay tried in vain to bridge the difference of opinion that was to be submerged in the blood of Civil war. The military and the masons turned out on the September day in 1793 to see Washington, growing old but still a mighty figure of a man, wield the trowel, the same trowel that President Hoover used in 1930 to lay the corner stone of the new commerce building.

The inscription placed upon it recites the stone was laid "on the eighteenth day of September, 1793, in the thirteenth year of American independence, in the first year of the second term of the presidency of George Washington, whose virtues in the civil administration of his country have been as conspicuous and beneficial as his military valor and prudence have been useful in establishing her liberties."

The dome rose above the stone and on either side were added the senate and house chambers.

Unknown to most, exploring light-seers found it through the years and chipped off so many of its pieces that the bronze plate was placed over it as a guard during President Cleveland's administration.

NEW GOVERNMENTS GIVEN APPROVAL

international obligation and to hold in due course elections to regularize its status."

The fulfillment of international obligations is the paramount consideration—and it is the legal reason for refusal to grant recognition to Russia. The inclusion of a reference to a future election is really a point which makes it possible for the United States to be consistent with the policies first laid down by President Wilson and later by Secretary Charles Evans Hughes; namely, that formal recognition, known as de jure, should come when the constitutional processes of a country have been completed with reference to executive succession.

But apart from the legal reason, Mr. Stimson gives the moral argument which has always been fundamental in the question of when recognition should be extended. He says the United States "deemed it wise to act promptly in this matter in order that in the present economic situation our delay may not embarrass the people of these friends."

ly countries in establishing their normal intercourse with the rest of the world." Heretofore the very delay in extending recognition has operated to prevent a provisional government from getting de facto control and has encouraged armed resistance.

The move therefore is one intended to bring about stability in the economic relations of Bolivia, Peru and Argentina and at the same time remove possibilities of further internal disorganization.

HUGE DISTILLERY IS DESTROYED BY POLICE

Detroit—(P)—Police Thursday announced they had destroyed an illicit distillery which had been doing a $1,000,000 a-month business for several months.

In a raid late Wednesday night they discovered and seized the largest alcohol plant found in Detroit since the eighteenth amendment went into effect. The raiders said the value of the elaborate equipment conservative estimates placed it at more than $500,000.

Operators of the plant escaped by means of rope ladders from rear windows, while the police were battering down doors and partitions. The building, located near the center of the uptown business district, formerly was used by the fire department but was abandoned and sold several years ago.

The big distillery was equipped with a telephone system and a battery of elevators. There was evidence it was operated by experts. Each vat was furnished with a bulletin board, giving the formula used and instructions as to temperatures and time of heating.

An Indian village within the limits of Harbor Springs, Mich., has obtained electric service and city water connections from the town council.

SOME WOMEN AGE SO YOUNG

You've known them... women who start out in life so radiantly fresh and alive! Then something happens... their bloom and freshness disappear. They constantly have "something wrong"—headaches, backaches, listlessness.

Constipation wrecks health and happiness for thousands of women and men. Its poisons cause more illness than any other one thing...

And it can be prevented so easily! Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed. This delicious cereal makes dangerous pills and drugs unnecessary. You enjoy eating it—and it helps keep you fit.

ALL-BRAN adds the "bulk" your diet needs to keep the system clean of poisonous wastes. It also adds iron to the blood—bringing the glorious color of health to cheeks and lips.

Eat Kellogg's ALL-BRAN in some form every day. With milk or cream—in fruit juices, omelets, soups. Sprinkled over other cereals—in muffins, bread. You could not follow a better rule of health. At your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

(Personal)

The easiest way to keep track of last minute food prices, in these days of rapid changes, is by dropping in at an A & P store. There you can always get the latest news on the subject.

The reason is simple. A & P buys the best at the sources of supply, and its margin of profit is always about the same—as little as possible. Its customers get all the saving when prices go down.

A & P

Many housewives have learned that it is truly surprising how much good food 25 cents will buy at A & P. For those who haven't learned we suggest these outstanding values. Every one means a saving to you and an opportunity to reduce living costs.

A NICE GIRL COMES TO TOWN

By Maymie Greig

Chapter 23
PROMISES

FOR a moment Mary Lou stood motionless, too, horror-struck to move. Then, gathering the flowing skirts of her wedding dress about her, she rushed down the street, away from the waiting taxi, away from the church--toward the field, toward Tony.

Jay followed breathlessly, and tried to grab at her arm.

"Mary Lou! The wedding!"

Mary Lou shook herself free.

"What do I care about any wedding... if Tony is hurt?"

Jay let her go. She knew there would be no wedding, whether or not Tony had been injured. Her pinch-sensation was a sense of overwhelming relief.

Golden slippers crushed golden buttercups as Mary Lou fled, on across the field. There was a prayer on her lips. "Oh, he must live. He must live. Tony can't die. Tony..."

The clock in the church steeple struck two. Inside, the guests grew restless, and looked at each other expectantly.

Brynmor, waiting by the altar, was painfully nervous. With each moment his nervousness grew. But he was only a ghost who might never have lived to the swift-footed girl who fled away from him, away from all of them, toward the wreckage that had been Gay Girl.

As she reached the crumpled mass, Mary Lou stopped short and gasped. Then she shrieked in hysterical joy, for Tony was slowly extricating himself from the damaged plane.

There was a bloody gash across his cheek, and one arm hung limp at his side, but Mary Lou was not impressed by such details. She rushed up to him and did all the things she had longed to do, but hadn't dared.

She threw her arms around his neck, ran her hands through his hair, and cried, "Oh Tony, darling, I love you. I love you."

Tony looked down at her and laughed exultantly. He tightened his uninjured arm around her, threw off the wedding veil, and kissed her.

Feeling a sudden embarrassment, Tony started talking to Gay Girl.

"Lost control, I guess," he muttered. "Suppose my hand wasn't steady after last night?"

"I love you, Tony," was Mary Lou's illogical reply.

His retort was whispered, but it seemed to satisfy Mary Lou. By this time she was sobbing in sheer happiness. The blood from his cheek had run onto her wedding dress, ruining it, but she didn't care.

"Rather unconventional behavior for a bride on her wedding day, isn't it?" queried Tony, in his old mocking way.

"There isn't any wedding," Mary Lou said firmly, "unless--you happen to bring a special license with you."

Tony admitted he had been thoughtless. In excuse he pointed out that gentlemen guests, invited to a wedding, ordinarily do not bring a special license in the hope of running away with the bride.

"But what about old Brynmor?" he questioned.

"Brynmor doesn't mean a thing," Tony gave her a lopsided grin and held her closer.

"I'm sorry about Gay Girl," said Mary Lou.

"Gay Girl doesn't mean a thing," he laughed.

Jay watched them from a distance, and sighed blissfully. Not until fifteen minutes later did she think about Brynmor and the guests waiting in the church.

"I suppose it's up to me to do the dirty work," she thought, as she rushed to the church.

She had to admit that Brynmor took it very well. In fact, he was so noble that his remarks didn't ring true.

"Tell Mary Lou I hope she will be happy with Titherington," he said as he left the church with his father. "Tell her I don't bear any ill will toward her."

"I always knew the man was too perfect to love," Jay thought to herself. "If I were in his shoes I'd shoot them both."

Doctor Leslie remembered urgent business in his office, and scurried home as though something had stung him. He locked the door of his study and pretended to be busy the rest of the afternoon. Secretly, he thanked his good luck for being spared the trials of listening to Brynmor for the rest of his days.

Bundles and Jiggs were disappointed, but consoled themselves with eating more than their share of the wedding cake.

"After we're married, darling, swear I'll never fly again," Tony promised on that hot, quiet morning, three weeks after Gay Girl's crash, before they slipped into the Chelsea registry and came out as Tony Oswald Titherington and Mary Lou.

Mary Lou smiled.

"What are you smiling about, Tony?"

Tony demanded in an angry tone, "What are you smiling about, Tony?"

"I know I'll stick by my promise, don't you? Have you ever known me to go back on my word?"

"Never, sweetheart--of course not," said Mary Lou, throwing kisses at him. "You are an old idiom."

She didn't explain, but she winked at Jay and Jay winked back at her. And Jerry wondered what was the cause of all the winking.

Miss Titherington, merely getting them a look of disgust.

"Come along into the registry office, you two lunatics. I'm going to see you safely married this time. I'll eat my hat if I don't."

"I wish you would, aunt," laughed Tony. "Then may be you'd get new one, after all these years."

"Ungrateful wretch!" chided Miss Titherington.

As a matter of fact, however, she was not in the least displeased with Mrs. Fawcett safely at home, she was enjoying herself immensely. Graciously she took all credit for having brought about the wedding.

And she had done well by the couple. She felt, in the matter of allowance, they should get about a thousand a year. Henceforth it wouldn't be her fault if things didn't go well. She remembered, with considerable satisfaction, that day when she first told Tony that he would be smothered by Mary Lou's hand.

Miss Titherington looked down into the dreamy eyes of the little grey-gowned bride and felt assured that everything would go well. As Tony, trying to be flippant and skeptical about the whole ceremony, was so absurdly happy that it was both laughable and pathetic.

It was three weeks later--at the honeymoon--when Miss Titherington gave a luncheon party for the newlyweds at Ham Green cottage, shortly after their return to town.

"Isn't it great?" cried Tony, interrupting some remark of his aunt's about the fairness of the weather. "I'm having this new plane built immediately. It will be much more powerful than Gay Girl and with it I'm sure I can break all the records on the books."

"I thought you promised to give up this wild flying after your marriage," Miss Titherington interposed sharply. There was a twinkle in her large black eyes.

"Give up flying?" Tony shouted the exclamation in a tone of genuine astonishment. "Where do you get that mad idea, Aunt Elsiebert?"

"Why, I'd die if I had to give up flying. And Mary Lou assures me that she actually wants me to continue with it. Isn't she wonderful? She swears she won't worry a bit will you darling?"

His voice dropped, and he reached for Mary Lou's hand under the table, and squeezed it fondly.

Miss Titherington looked over at Mary Lou.

"They're the real heroes, after all--these girls who encourage their men to perform these daredevil stunts," she thought. "But I won't do it."

Mary Lou was smiling straight into Tony's blue eyes.

"Of course I won't worry the least bit, you silly old dear. I want you to break all sorts of records--my sake," she lied.

STRONG MARKET FOR BONDS EXPECTED TO LAST MONTHS MORE

Present Situation Has All Earmarks of Another Business Cycle

BY PRESTON S. KRECKER
Copyright, 1930, by Cons. Press
Wall Street, New York—Evidence multiplies every day that the year 1930 will go down in financial history as a period when the bond market eclipsed stocks. The trend of bonds continues strongly upward, with the averages at a new high point for the year, while the trend of stocks since last April has been distinctly downward, although the averages are above the lows reached in June.

Doubtless the stock-minded public would derive greater satisfaction from a rising stock market than it realizes from the advance in bonds. From an economic point of view, however, the fact that bonds are in an upward trend is of far more importance under existing conditions than would be a spurt in stocks, because it signifies that the foundation for a genuine revival in business is being laid.

History of market cycles has been the same for many years. The order of events may be said to be first a boom in stocks based on prosperity in business. There follows the inevitable decline in business and temporary "hard times" attended by a period of extreme ease in money and low stock prices. The next phase is a rise in bonds, accompanied by new financing in the form of loans, and diversion of money into productive channels at low interest rates. The equal to such distribution and employment of capital is a gradual improvement in business and eventually a reflection of that improvement in the stock market.

A number of such cycles can be distinctly traced over a period of the 30 years. Emergence out of the high of business depression each time was preceded by a rise in bond prices. One such movement started in the late months of 1903 and persisted for nearly two years. Another was initiated in 1908 following the "panic" of 1907 and persisted for more than a year. A third rise in bonds was set in motion in the summer of 1921 during the business depression of that year and also lasted for more than a year. The last upward movement in bonds was initiated in the summer of 1924 and persisted for nearly four years, or until early in 1929, before the trend was reversed.

The present rise in bonds bears all the familiar earmarks of those which preceded it. No two movements are ever exactly alike in duration or extent but it is significant that the current rise in bonds has not yet matched in duration even the most short-lived of the other major movements of the last 30 years. It is therefore reasonable to deduce that it will continue for several months longer and that prices will be materially higher than they are before it terminates.

The rise in bonds is due, of course, to accumulation by banks and other large scale investors. That accumulation in turn represents forced diversion of funds into bonds because they afford the most profitable form of investment for banks. It is good business for them to invest surplus funds in long term investments because these investments offer the most attractive return at present. Short term money is so cheap that no longer tempts bankers and corporations.

What nourishment do investors in stocks derive from the palpable drift of money into bonds at present? Simply this, that every similar major rise in bonds has been followed ultimately by a recovery in stock prices, frequently to peaks never before touched. There is reason to believe that history will repeat itself during the current cycle. But no sudden upturn should be expected in stocks simply because bonds are strong. Indeed, it is more reasonable to expect that a definite advance in the stock market will be deferred for some months.

0% MORE HEAT FROM TON OF COAL
Steel-riveted Lennox Torrid Zone Furnace Has Extra Large Radiator—And It's Gas-tight
Many home owners report a early saving of from $30 to $50 fuel since buying a Torrid Zone Furnace. The special burning model saves even more, and is recommended by all oil burner manufacturers.
Design as much as construction responsible for this economy. The steel plate, which is hot-riveted and d-calked to prevent leaking, of s, smoke, or dust, conducts heat re quickly than cast iron and is re durable. But it is the efficient sign of the fire-pot and radiator rich gets more heat from fuel.

LaFollette's Bride

On the same day that his brother, Philip, learned that he had been nominated as Republican candidate for governor of Wisconsin, Senator Robert M. LaFollette ceased to be "the Senate's most eligible bachelor" and joined the ranks of the married men by wedding his secretary. Here is Mrs. Robert M. LaFollette. Before her marriage she was Miss Rachel Wilson Young of Washington, D. C.

MILKING MACHINES MUST BE KEPT CLEAN

The use of milking machines in commercial dairying is increasing, and in order to assist dairymen to keep milking machines in sanitary condition, so that the quality of the milk produced will be high, the Bureau of Dairy Industry of the U. S. Department of Agriculture has issued a bulletin on the subject. The publication is Farmers' Bulletin 1315-F, "Cleaning Milking Machines." A copy may be obtained free from the office of Information, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., as long as the supply available for free distribution lasts.

The milking machine which has not been treated with heat or a chlorine solution is one of the principal sources of bacterial contamination of milk, and if the milking machine is not washed thoroughly clean and effectively treated, with heat or chlorine, the result may be that the milk will contain bacteria in large numbers, says the bulletin.

The publication discusses the necessity for proper cleaning of the milking equipment, the parts of the equipment which require special attention, the heat treatment for killing bacteria, the effect of heat on the rubber parts, and variations of the heat method. It is illustrated to show the simple operations and arrangements which scientific investigation and experience on good dairy farms have found to be effective in killing bacteria in the milking equipment.

SENATE COMMITTEE SEEKS INFORMATION ON POSTAL LEASES

Special Investigator to Make Formal Request to Department

Washington—(AP)—Information concerning the postoffice department's independent investigation of postoffice leases that cost the government $17,000,000 last year will be sought on behalf of the senate committee now inquiring into conditions surrounding the annual rent bill.

John Holland, special investigator for the committee, said he would make a formal request for information from postoffice officials.

Representatives Maas, Republican, Minnesota, said after a conference with Holland that "irrespective of information developed by independent investigations, a sweeping congressional inquiry to fix responsibility for conditions existing in the past must and will be made."

The department's inquiry was made at the request of President Hoover, and a report concerning it is to be transmitted to him this week. The lease situation called forth charges of corruption and fraud during the senate's consideration of the postoffice appropriation last spring. Chairman Blaine of the senate's investigating committee, is expected to consult other members on the possibility of beginning public hearings within the next two weeks at St. Paul, Minn.

Holland estimated the government had spent at least $150,000,000 for rent on postoffice substations during the past 10 years. He declined to discuss details of information gathered for the senate inquiry, however.

Chairman Blaine said shortly after the investigation began that two professional bidders with offices in St. Paul and Indianapolis held the majority of the leases. It was estimated that the companies in which they controlled stock held leases whose rentals amounted to more than $1,000,000 a year.

Maas said he would confer with Blaine before the hearing begins in St. Paul. It is expected that local and federal postal officials will be among the first called to testify.

Many of the leases now held on postoffice substations and garages are of long standing. Many are long-term, non-cancellable leases.

SEE GAIN IN FIGHT ON T. B. IN STATE

Madison—(AP)—The winning fight of Wisconsin against tuberculosis owes much of its success to its citizens whose ages range from 25 to 29 years, it was announced by the state board of health.

Although 187 young men and women of this age group succumbed to tuberculosis last year, a gain of 13 lives saved was recorded in a year. Two years ago the death list for this age group reached 311 from all causes, but last year this figure was cut to 774. Tuberculosis remains the leading cause; accidents are second, followed by deaths after childbirth, pneumonia, heart disease, influenza, and nephritis, in the order named.

So skilled were the Egyptians in the manufacture of perfumes that some of their products, preserved in an alabaster vase in an English museum, still retain their odor although more than 3000 years old.

MAN SAYS HE WASN'T DRUNK; FRIEND FINED

Lou Packard and Fred Wunderlich, route 1, Appleton, were arraigned in municipal court before Judge Theodore Berg Thursday morning on charges of drunkenness. Packard pleaded guilty and was fined $10 and costs and Wunderlich pleaded not guilty and trial of the case was set for Friday. He furnished $50 bonds. Wunderlich and Packard were arrested at the corner of Wisconsin and Gillette-st about 5:30 Wednesday afternoon following a collision with a machine owned by Ray Ellenbecker, route 1, Appleton. Wunderlich was driving west when his car was struck by Ellenbecker's machine, according to the police records. Both men were arrested by Officer Carl Radtke.

DISTRICT C. E. TO MEET IN APPLETON

Presbyterian Church Society Will Be Host to Young People

Appleton has been tentatively selected as the city which will entertain the Green Bay district convention of the Wisconsin Christian Endeavor union, according to arrangements made by Clifford Earle, state field secretary, during a recent visit here. Memorial Presbyterian church society will be invited to act as host, with all C. E. societies in Appleton cooperating.

The convention will bring to Appleton approximately 100 young people or the dates of Nov. 7 and 8, in the territory from Appleton north to Marinette. Experts in various phases of young people's work will be on the program and the Rev. D. Evans Jones of Cambria, will act as devotional leader. Two institutes will be held to take up the new crusade program of the International Society of Christian Endeavor, and the concluding session will be a banquet on Saturday evening.

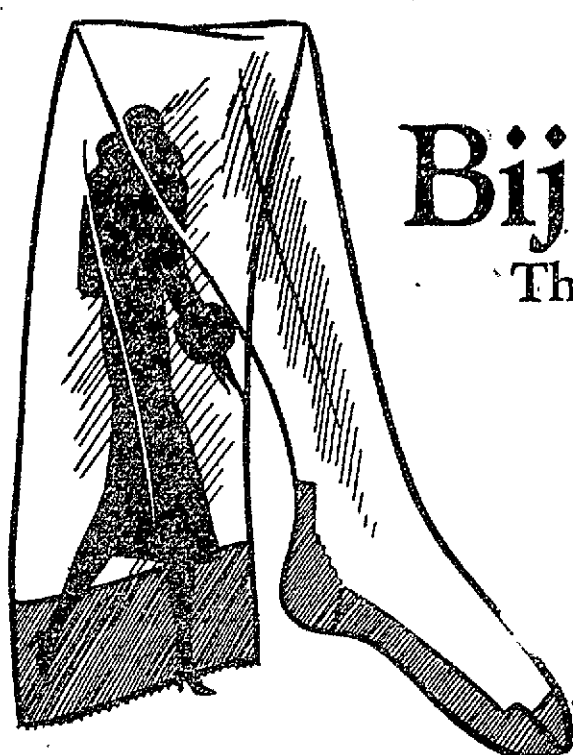

A conference of newly elected officers is planned for Sunday, Nov. 9, at which they will map out their plans for the year.

DEFEATED CANDIDATE RUNS AS INDEPENDENT

Racine—(AP)—William H. Sommers, defeated Progressive Republican candidate for state senator from Racine-co, today announced his intention to run as an independent candidate in the November election.

Walter S. Goodland, Racine publisher, and a Conservative leader in the senate, was nominated to succeed himself with a vote of 7,749. The vote for Sommers was 4,079, while Harry Herzog who also sought the nomination polled 5,451.

Fashion Arms the Mode with New Sleeve Details

Choosing a new frock this season almost resolves itself into sleeve research. Not for years have sleeves been so important and so varied. And as to color, you must not overlook the lovely shades of brown — burgundy and seal and the lighter tones. Plain canton and canton faille are the fabrics specially favored and there are hand traceries of embroidery, eyelets, and wide use of lace.
